ESTABLISHED JULY 29, 1786.---VOL. 91.---NO. 82. THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 2, 1876. EIGHT DOLLARS PER ANNUM.

DAILY GAZETTE.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Banker Ralston's residence in San Francisco is to become a boarding house.

—Only a few more working days before election! The time is short—but not too short for hard work and honest work.

—Democratic candidates in Missouri politely hand voters their cards with, "Good for one drink at ——'s saloon," inscribed on the reverse.

—Alex. H. Stephens has several immense volumes in his library, the result, it is supposed, of sending one of his paragraphs to the book binder.

—The Baltimore gossips have had a sensation in the marriage of a "well known and highly respectable" jeweler of seventy to a girl in her teens."

—Don't crowd a fashionably dressed young lady with a big tilter on. It makes her look like she was crawling out from under the cover of an old-fashioned country road wagon.

—When a Democrat really reforms, his first act is to make an affidavit as to his identity, and then get somebody who believes it to go round with him and re-introduce him to his friends.

—The Livadia so frequently mentioned in the cable reports in connection with Russian news is the summer residence of the Empress, in the Crimea, and near Yalta, a small port on the Black Sea.

—Norristown Herald: Buttons on the feminine dress are smaller this winter. The old ones, worn a year or two ago, make good quoits—though some of them are two heavy to pitch over ten yards.

—St. Peter might not himself unlock the gates of Paradise to let Colonel Ingersoll in, but if he heard "Bob" orate for a few minutes he couldd't help throwing the keys over the wall.—Brooklyn Argus.

—The only daughter of Rear Admiral A. L. Case, of the United States Navy, and wife of Ensign Deering, of the United States Navy, died quite suddenly yesterday at the residence of her father in Newport.

—The disappointment and mortification which the result of this election is bound to inflict, in any event, will doubtless be much mitigated by the rapid succession of that most joyous era—the buckwheat cakes and molasses season.

—The engineers and firemen on the Cairo & St. Louis Narrow Gauge Railroad struck yesterday against a reduction of wages and stopped several of the trains from going out. New men, however, were put on and matters were in shape last night.

—Where are the Americans? is the cry among all the European shopkeepers, who are now only able to get ordinary instead of treble profit on their goods. Somebody says that a good many of them are at home paying four times the usual price for Japanese vases and Chinese curiosities at the Philadelphia Exhibition.

—The Emperor William deplores, in presence of his Parliament, the depression of trade and industry in Germany—but he says nothing about reducing the cost of his great standing army. He is sympathetic, but the lot of his people is not likely to be bettered by sympathy which is all words. No wonder the German wants to emigrate.

—A young woman has just established a real estate agency in Chicago, and cleared $500 in the first month, says the New Century. On the same street is the office of Miss Ellen Culver, for eight years the Chicago manager of the large real estate business done by the Baltimore millionaire, Mr. Hull. Miss Culver has three hunnred tenants in charge.

—Since the election of Blue Jeans, Indiana urchins of Democratic parents have to be whipped to school, and they play truant and go home with their faces and clothes dirty; and when they are reprimanded they cry: "Well, don't we want to grow up to be Governor of Indiana? And how can we be elected if we know anything and wear clean clothes?"

—According to all newspaper accounts, the festive Mr. Stokes, recently discharged from a State institution at Auburn, is making himself offensively prominent. "Modest stillness and humanity" are more becoming to a man in his position. He is not a martyr, and his pretensions as such will not help him in a community which so strongly inclines to the opinion that he ought to be hung.

—It certainly does look as if there must be some foundation for the stories about Ole Bull and his wife not getting along well together. After being away from her on the continent for some months, he joined her in returning to this country, a few days ago, and it was announced that they were going to spend the winter at her old home in Wisconsin—but here is an item stating that he has sailed for Europe again, already.

—The Grand Duchess de Calina has just been presented to the Pope. She expressed her sympathy with His Holiness in the troubles precipitated upon him. "Yes, my daughter," he says sadly, "all Europe is in confusion, and even the Church itself is torn and distracted." "Alas! yes," she replies, her fine eyes filled with tears, "but there will be an end of it. People all say that after your death things will rearrange themselves."

—William Morris, the poet, lives in a charming house in London, brightened by a wife who is very beautiful, and three pretty children. His study is reached by three flights of stairs, and is a bare room, hung with lumps of tobacco, and having for writing purposes a curious old hacked table and an ancient ink-horn. Herein the "Earthly Paradise" was written. The shaggy-haired, kind-faced poet never looks handsomer than when his little ones are dancing about him and climbing over him

—Mr. Longfellow Croffut presents this view of a well known red man:

"I'm the Sitting Bull you've heard of,
These is Mister Custer's trappings.
Now, behold! thy child is hungry—
Simple infant of the forest
Hungry as a famished wildcat—
Stomach like a hollow poplar;
Tighter draw thy beltum—no good;
Canteen sixy fiery water;
See! I tip him topsy-turvy
And there ain't a bit of smellum.
Injun hungry! Injun thirsty!'"
And he hammered on his stomach.

—William Black, the novelist, has gone back to England. Before he came over he had a good deal to say, and that not in a very amiable mood, about the impertinent inquisitiveness of American newspapers. His intimated wish was that they should let him alone, which they have done. Unable to remain in obscurity, however, he felt obliged to call attention to his presence by one or two silly letters to the New York papers. These, however, met with the silent neglect they deserved, and, on the whole, "Mr. Black is not favorably impressed with America."

—At the Centennial an ancient Gobelin tapestry is shown, the exact age of which cannot be determined. According to tradition it dates back to the year 1515. In 1792 it was exposed in St. Augustine's Chapel, Montreal. It was imported to that city by a French nobleman, named Pierre Narcisse de Gaslonnayo. The tapestry is about eight feet square, and represents the Virgin and child in the manger, with the wise men offering adoration. The colors are much faded, especially the pinks and yellows; the foliage is now blue, but was probably green when put in.

—At Maroa Friday night while a wedding party were celebrating at the residence of Mr. Schank, the bridesgroom's father, a hanging lamp was accidentally knocked down, and, striking the bride, broke and the oil spilled over the bride and groom and took fire, burning them both terribly as well as several of the guests. The bride has died since. Physicians say the bridegroom cannot live, and that Mrs. Sargent is in a critical state. The young party had just come from Ohio where they were married a few days ago. A feeling of gloom pervades the town. A cousin who knocked down the lamp is nearly distracted.

—The speech by the Hon. W. M. Evarts, in New York, last night, is not the most important feature of the movement, of which the meeting and the speech were an expression; and we say this, knowing the richness of the rhetoric of Mr. Evarts, and the ripeness of his judgment. He speaks at the call of the most distinguished and deeply interested of the representatives of the great commercial and financial affairs of the country. The meaning of the meeting is, that the capitalists are very largely afraid of the Democratic party. They know that its professions are fair, but they feel that its character is bad, and that those who seek peace and hold to the sacredness of contracts, can not afford to trust that party.

—Bayard Taylor says: "Joaquin Miller has written a play, as I stated to you was rumored a fortnight ago. The title of it is: 'The Shadow of Nauvoo'—which hints of a hero with numerous wives. If so, and even an approach to the reality of such a situation could be represented on the stage, I should predict its immediate success. What theater-goers now demand is not dramatic art, but an entirely new sensation. Colonel Mulberry Sellers, Colonel Bardwell Slote, Colonel Starbottle—why always a Colonel?—have done their best to satisfy the demand, but in vain; and I suspect that nothing but a combination of acrobat, negro minstrel, high and low comedian, ventriloquist, pugilist, revival preacher and Centennial orator, all in one, would fulfill the popular ideal."

Five Horse Thieves Lynched.

ST. LOUIS, November 1.—A special from Kansas City says reports reached there of the lynching of two horse thieves, named Wm. Fulton and Hundley, in Wyandotte, Kansas, on Monday morning, by a vigilance committee. It is also stated that three more of the band have been captured and served the same way.

FIRST EDITION.

THE COMING ELECTION.

To the Republicans of the United States.

THEIR DUTY ON NEXT TUESDAY.

Stand by Hayes and Wheeler.

RALLY TO PUT DOWN THE NEW SOUTHERN REBELLION.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE,
FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL,
NEW YORK, November 1, 1876.

To the Republicans of the United States:

A spontaneous and enthusiastic uprising of the Northern people within the last few days, evidenced by recent advices up to this evening at these headquarters, leaves no doubt about the election of Hayes and Wheeler by a large majority of the electoral votes. The evasive and valueless promises of Mr. Tilden, with the stereotyped and virtual approval forced by him from a few Southern Democratic committees not to press the rebel war claims for loss or damage to property, although still demanding the payment to rebels, as well as to loyal persons, of about two thousand millions of dollars claimed in their bills before Congress for supplies furnished or taken, and for the use and occupation of property, have failed to produce conviction in the face of overwhelming evidence of their contrary purposes, and have alarmed instead of quieted the Northern people. The imminent danger to the public credit and to reviving commerce and manufactures if the payment of the national debt is to depend upon a Government of men whose rebellion that debt was created to suppress, has aroused the merchants and business men of New York and of the country. The violation over nearly half the territory of the nation by intimidation and murder of the fundamental republican principle that the ballot shall be freely chosen and safely cast is rallying a united North to put down promptly this new Southern rebellion. With this uprising of Northern sentiment every Northern State will probably be carried for Hayes. The frauds in New York city will be prevented and the Democratic city majority kept down to such an amount that the large Republican majorities elsewhere will not fail to overcome and secure a decided majority in the State for Hayes and Wheeler. The three Pacific coast States and New Jersey are believed to be surely Republican, and there is a good fighting chance in Indiana. While the information from North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana shows that in spite of the murderous opposition of Tilden Democrats, those Southern States will give majorities for Hayes. The systematic and prearranged boastings from the Tilden headquarters in New York are only desperate expedients to avert enevitable defeat. The Republicans of the country have only to perform their full duty, and every man go early to the polls, and the triumph for Hayes and Wheeler will be overwhelming.

Z. CHANDLER, Chairman.

DEMOCRATIC TACTICS.

How They Cater to the Catholic Vote.

The following, which lets the cat out of the bag on some points, was brought to the editor of the Cleveland Herald by a highly respectable business firm in that city. The Herald says the envelope, which is postmarked "New York, October 24," together with the original letter, is in its possession. It will be seen by the postscript that the writer had written to Cleveland about shipments. The supposition of the firm receiving the letter is that the communication about shipments was placed in the wrong envelope and went to Wisconsin, whilst the letter intended for the Wisconsin correspondent came to the Cleveland firm. We make no comment on the document. It speaks for itself:

NEW YORK, October 24, 1875.—DEAR LEWIS. As promised, I stopped here on my way home from the Centennial to see our friends. I write you briefly, as this is my tenth letter to-night, and it is late. They promise us aid, but say it must be through the State Committee. Hewitt (Tilden's chief manager) is so occupied that I had no opportunity to talk to him as I wished. A few minutes with the Governor (Tilden,) however, who happened in the city, did as well. He talks hopefully, but is solicitous about Wisconsin, and thinks there is a possibility of its vote determining the election. Among other things which I will tell you, he feels the necessity of a full Catholic vote, and wishes its importance cautiously urged upon the priests and officers of the Church. The fact should be remembered by them that the school question has been dragged in issue in some States, and that the Demoratic party is their true friend. He wants them reminded that he and the party are constantly assailed for the Gray Nuns' act and such favors, and for the Church to be laggard now would be little less than treachery. This matter he wishes to have looked after with the utmost caution and outside of committees, and by none not out of this order. I'll stop at Milwaukee as I go up and look after the matter there. Can you not go over to Madison and do so there? There is no time to be lost. I will also look after the mining regions when I get home, which will be not later than the 28th. I start to-morrow by 3 P. M. via Albany. Business is looking up.

Truly yours,
JAMES C. DEVAN.

P. S.—Please answer me at home, on back of this letter. Have written to Cleveland about our shipments.

TERRIFIC STORM.

Experiences on the U. S. Steamer Ossipee off Key West—Sufferings of the Crew—Peculiar Effect of the Storm on Animals on Board.

NEW YORK, November 1.—In a letter from Key West, giving the experiences of the United States steamer Ossipee in the storm of the 19th and 20th of October, says the men, in getting about the decks to attend to their duties, were thrown violently from their feet, and blinded by the salt spray, were obliged to go groping about as if they were in total darkness. They could only stick to their stations by the most desperate struggling against the hatches, gratings, doors, deck buckets and many other articles that were being swept back and across the decks by the rushing of the water as the ship rolled and tossed. Breathing was difficult, and the air taken into the lungs was so loaded with sea salts that it caused excessive irritation, producing violent coughing and vomiting. The suffering of the men was most intense, especially among the firemen and coal heavers, who were not only deprived of ventilation, but obliged to inhale the salt water steam produced by the seas rushing into the fire room. It was then thought advisable to encourage the men by the use of stimulants. The surgeon found a sufficient quantity to give all hands a "tot" each, and sent it to the cabin to be distributed.

The effect of the storm on animals on board was peculiar. Cats disappeared the morning before the storm, and were not seen for five days afterwards. The dog "Daniel," a splendid pointer owned by the captain, exhibited the greatest dread at being left alone, and was only appeased when some one was petting him. The hens and turkeys, usually most hungry and voracious and quarrelsome beasts on board, forgot their hunger, and barely opened their eyes when food was thrown them. Two birds, "babos," a species of pelican, came on board while we were lying in the vortex. They must have been drawn down while attempting to fly over us. The parrot was the only thing on board that seemed at all to enjoy the surroundings.

Selling Brigham Young's Property.

SALT LAKE, November 1.—Four carriages, three wagons, one pair of mules, one span of horses, one harness, and three cows, the property of Brigham Young, sold to-day at public auction by the commissioner to pay the award of the Court in the Ann Eliza case, brought eleven hundred and eighty-five dollars. Further seizures of property will be made.

New York City Republican Ticket.

NEW YORK, November 1.—The Republicans have nominated a full and straight city and county ticket. Gen. John A. Dix is a candidate for Mayor, and ex-Collector Thomas Murphy a candidate for County Clerk. The remainder of the ticket has local fame.

THE CENTENNIAL SLANDER.

Correspondence Between Minister Washburne and the French Minister of Foreign Affairs.

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The following is the correspondence which has passed between Minister Washburne and the Minister of Foreign Affairs of France relative to the recent publication of a letter in certain French journals concerning the Centennial Exhibition:

LEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES,
PARIS, October 28, 1876.

My Dear Duke De Cazes:

I have read with amazement the extraordinary letter published in the Figaro of yesterday over the signature of Du Sommerad, who is the General Commissioner of France, Pres Les Exposition Universelles. Were this a letter of a private individual I should deem it utterly unworthy of notice, but being from a high functionary of the French Government having official connection with the American Centennial Exposition, I would be forgetful of my duty and all the obligations I owe to my Government and to the people of the United States did I not hasten to denounce to you the charges contained in the letter touching the Exposition, and against my country, its magistracy, and even its women, as the most monstrous calumnies. The substance of the letter has not only been telegraphed to the United States, where it will incite the most profound indignation among all classes, but I shall deem it my further duty to call the attention of Mr. Fish to the outrageous and slanderous imputation on the American people by the French Commissioner.

I am, etc., E. D. WASHBURNE.

Duke De Cazes' Reply.

My Dear Minister:

On the 28th inst. you did me the honor to signalize to my attention the publication of a letter attributed by a journal to the French Commissioner General at the Exhibition of Philadelphia. I hastened myself to bring this regretable incident to the knowledge of my colleague, the Minister of Agriculture and Commerce, and as early as on the 29th the note inserted in the Journal Official has proven to you how much the French Government preoccupied itself to immediately inquire into the facts, and to give you, in case their exactness should be established, a legitimate and prompt satisfaction. As I had hoped, the letter published under the signature of "M. Du Sommerad" is apocryphal. That functionary disavows it in formal tones, as you will see by the protestation here annexed, which he has addressed to the Minister with whom he is connected, and which seems to me an answer such as we could desire to the calumny. I am pleased to think, therefore, my dear Minister, that this categorical declaration closes this regretful incident. No doubt it will seem to you, as to me, ended, and it will have had for its principal result to furnish to the French Government an occasion to give, by the promptness with which it received your remonstrance, a new testimony of the sentiments of cordial sympathy by which it is animated for the Government and people of the United States.

I am, etc., DE CAZES.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Two Buildings of a Powder Mill Blown Up—One Man Killed and Several Injured—The Shock Felt Many Miles Away.

CINCINNATI, November 1.—A Springfield (Ohio) special says two buildings of the Miami Powder Mills, located fourteen miles west of that city, blew up with terrific violence about two o'clock this afternoon. Michial Depeane was blown to atoms, and several other persons severely injured. The concussion was so great that windows were broken miles distant. Antioch College, at Yellow Springs, was considerably damaged, and the shock was felt with great force at Springfield, Xenia, London and other points. The damage is estimated at $15,000.

Another Railway Accident.

PHILADELPHIA, November 2.—A serious accident occurred to the Buffalo Express going north on the North Pennsylvania Railroad last night, at Centre Valley, caused by the breaking of an axle of one of the cars. Three sleepers and one passenger car were thrown from the track, and the brakeman and porter killed and several others injured. The wounded are being cared for by a relief train with surgeons sent from Bethlehem.

The Recent Railway Accident.

NEW YORK, November 1.—In the official report of the recent accident on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, Superintendent Holstead says the rear brakesman, whose duty it was to be back with a flag, has not been seen since the accident occurred. The engineer on the coal train is equally to blame, as he could, if he had been looking out, as he should have been, have seen the train far enough to have stopped before running into it.

Sports on the Turf.

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The running races which were postponed yesterday took place to-day. The first race, dash of ¾ mile, was won by Inspiration. The second race, mile heats, was won by Bill Bruce. Time 1:45 and 1:46¾. The hurdle race, two miles, over eight hurdles, was won by Derby. Time 3:54½.

The War in Turkey.

Montenegrins Bombarding Podgaritza.

ANOTHER TOWN BURNED BY TURKS.

The Porte Agrees to a Two Months' Armistice.

CARDINAL ANTONELLI DYING.

THE WAR.

The Russian Ultimatum.

PARIS, November 1.—Constantinople advices of to-day's date state that the armistice is as yet unsigned. The Russian ultimatum was only delivered to the Porte yesterday.

Bombardment of Podgoritza.

The Montenegrins are bombarding Podgoritza. The Montenegrin army has penetrated into Albania by way of Medun, cutting communication between Podgoritza and Zcuttrie.

A Two Months' Armistice.

A dispatch from Constantinople announces that the diplomatic officials there say that the Porte has accepted an armistice of two months, and ordered its army commanders to suspend hostilities.

Sunday's Battle.

A correspondent of the Daily News with General Tchernayeff's army telegraphs to that journal a description of Sunday's battle and the position of affairs afterwards. The following are extracts: The Turks fought with a dogged pertinacity, and occasionally with a brilliant dash which claim the highest admiration. The Russians fought hard and stoutly, but then the Russians had borne the brunt of fight after fight in this very position, and as for the Servians, it was not their day. The full weight and significance of the Servians' defeat is not easy to estimate, and it is not easy to form an opinion of the loss incurred. We do not know where the troops are, to say nothing of the wounded, many of whom, I fear, will never be brought in. The Deligrad wing of the army is in a condition of demoralization, at least temporary dispersion.

General Horvatovich, with the right wing, is retiring out of reach of the Turks, and it would be folly for him to offer battle. The Russian officers are leaving. They decline to be massacred for people whom they denounce as destitute of all martial spirit. They have no words to express their contempt and disgust for the pusillanimity of the Servian soldiers. The whole territory in the Morava valley south of Parakin is in course of universal evacuation, painfully accelerated by incorrect rumors of Sunday's losses, no certain estimate of which can be formed, because most of the Servian battalions are more or less disintegrated, and nobody can distinguish between killed, wounded and missing, the latter being stragglers. Many wounded must have been left on the field of battle.

Turkey's Reply to Russia.

LONDON, November 1.—There are various reports concerning Turkey's reply in regard to the armistice. Reuter's telegram from Belgrade is as follows: It is said that Servia has accepted the two month's armistice, which has been agreed to by Turkey, as already announced.

The Vienna Tagblatt, in a special edition, publishes a dispatch from its correspondent at Belgrade, according to which the Porte is willing to accept an armistice of any length, but demands information before hand as to the conditions of peace.

The latest from Constantinople is a telegram this evening, which states that the Porte's reply is still unknown, but is expected to be favorable. There was another extraordinary council of Ministers to-day. The Ambassadors are now assembled at Gen. Ignatieff's residence. It is reported that the Turks have entered Deligrad.

LONDON, November 2.—A Belgrade dispatch declares the statement fully confirmed that the Porte has agreed to a two months' armistice, with power to renew it for six weeks.

A Town in Flames.

The same dispatch reports that Kruschevats is in flames.

LONDON, November 2.—The Turks have entered and burned Krushevatz.

No More Fighting.

Whatever may be the result of the negoiations for permanent peace, Servia will fight no more, and Russian volunteers are not likely to again fight for her.

Tchernayeff's Ultimatum to the Turks.

The Telegraph's correspondent says Ignatieff rejected the Porte's offer, and gave the Turks forty-eight hours from Tuesday night to reconsider the matter. He adds that the archives and furniture of the Russian Embassy at Constantinople are being rapidly shipped to Odessa, and the Russian Consuls in Turkey have been ordered to move within reach of the frontiers.

Internal Troubles in Servia Probable.

The correspondent of the Daily News at Belgrade states that great apprehensions are felt in the upper circles of Servian society of internal troubles.

JAPAN.

Serious Revolt

PARIS, November 1.—The following telegram has been received at the Japan embassy in this city. Some portions of the dispatch are unintelligible to the embassy itself, but it indicates that serious disturbances have occurred.

The Kumanotto Shisjokus, Lamoure class, revolted on the night of the 23d of October, killing many officials. They were soon subdued. The Imperial troops also fought and overcame the Akitsouki Shisjokus near Kokoura. Hundreds surrendered. The Yamogutsi Shisjukus Rohand escaped. Orders were issued for their arrest.

ITALY.

Dangerous Illness of Cardinal Antonelli.

LONDON, November 1.—A Reuter dispatch from Rome says Cardinal Antonelli is dangerously ill. Members of the diplomatic body went to the Vatican yesterday to inquire as to his condition.

A dispatch from Rome to the Daily News says Cardinal Antonelli is dying. His Holiness the Pope, on Sunday, ordered a consultation of physicians, who declared the Cardinal's case hopeless. His relatives were summoned to his bedside, and found him unconscious.

SPAIN.

The Basque Provinces.

LONDON, November 2.—A dispatch from Madrid reports that General Quesada yesterday held a conference with the Ministers on the state of the Basque provinces. The army of occupation will be reinforced, and Quesada returns to Biscay immediately. The Conservative press urge an energetic policy against the growing disaffection displayed in the attitude of Biscayan deputies and towns.

THE NETHERLANDS.

A Maritime Canal Opened.

AMSTERDAM, November 1.—The great maritime canal connecting this city with the German ocean was opened to-day with imposing ceremonies, at which the King, members of the cabinet and foreign representatives were present. The canal is sixteen miles long, and has at the sea end a harbor covering two hundred and fifty acres, which, however, is not quite completed.

THE INDIAN WAR.

Official Report on the Recent Battle.

CHICAGO, November 1.—The official report of the battle between Sitting Bull, Pretty Bear, Bull Eagle, John Sans Arcs, Standing Bear, Gaules and White Bear on Cedar creek, the general results of which were given in the St. Paul dispatch last night, states that the number of Indians known to have been killed is five. The report concludes: "I believe this matter can be closed now by vigorous work. Some cavalry is indispensable."

The Lick Will Contest.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 1.—It has been ascertained that the main grounds on which John H. Lick intends to contest his father's trust deed are on sanitary and undue influence on the part of the trustees and others, who are alleged to have used means to prejudice the deceased against his son by falsely accusing the latter of obtaining the passage through the Legislature of a bill providing that no decedent should divide over a certain proportion of his fortune to charitable or other objects aside from his natural heirs, by which and other alleged untrue representations the deceased was induced to leave the estate in trust to the prejudice of the petitioner. The legitimacy of John H. Lick will make a prominent feature in the contest by the trust, and the impression prevails that it will be difficult to prove any action on the part of his father by which legitimacy can be established.

HOMICIDE.

Trial of Samuel Gibbons for the Murder of W. T. Edgar—Conclusion of the Testimony—Edgar's Dying Statement—Points Submitted by Defendant's Counsel.

The trial of Samuel Gibbons for the murder of W. T. Edgar, was resumed yesterday morning. The first witness called was Lieutenant S. S. Hagar, the officer who arrested the prisoner. He testified that about nine o'clock on the night of the first of last July he was passing down Third avenue, towards Market street, when he heard some parties wrangling and quarreling, on Third avenue, near McElroy's broom factory. Witness stopped in a doorway. The first remark he heard was some one said. "Let go there, d—n you, let go!" Then they separated; one of them was much taller than the other. When they separated, heard one of them make the remark, "D—n you, I'll put it to you." Then they came together, and almost instantly saw the flash of the revolver and the report was heard. Witness rapped for assistance, and went to the men, who were lying on the street, near the curbstone. The one on top said: "I've got it—he's shot me." The men were separated and both taken to the lock-up. Witness had a conversation with the prisoner on the way to the lock-up. Witness asked the prisoner why he shot this man, and he said he didn't shoot him, or he didn't intend to shoot him. Afterwards in conversation the prisoner said he didn't usually carry a revolver, but that he had bought this one to take to the Centennial. He said he was very sorry that this thing had occurred, as he and Edgar were very good friends.

On cross-examination the witness said that he meant to say that the prisoner told him he did not mean to kill the deceased; prisoner did not deny that he had done the shooting.

James Costello, a patrolman, was next called and testified that he was on Third avenue on the night of the 1st of July and went to the scene of the shooting in response to Lieut. Hagar's rap. His testimony developed nothing important.

The dying statement of the deceased was then offered in evidence, Mayor McCarthy and Frank P. Chase were called to show that Edgar thought he was going to die from the effects of the wound when the statement was made.

THE STATEMENT.

Following is a copy of the paper:

"Dying statement of ——.

"My name is William Thomas Edgar. I am thirty-one years old the 20th of this month. Last Saturday evening I met Samuel Gibbons on Third avenue. He asked me to go into Daly's saloon and take a glass of beer. I went in, and we took two glasses each. I told him I thought there was going to be some trouble there and we had better take a walk. He said he had heard of it, and we started down toward Market street. When we reached Market street some one called Sammy, and told us that place was going to be "pulled." We went into a Dutchman's saloon near by. I don't know his name. We had two glasses of beer apiece. Gibbons treated the barkeeper and his wife. We played pigeon-hole on the counter with a stranger, and he beat us. The barkeeper spoke about the payment of the bill, and Gibbons said he had been robbed. I told him he had some money, and asked to search him before the crowd. He said he would have me searched if I did not keep still. I told him I was willing. He talked of having the stranger searched, but the latter would not allow it. We had been old friends about twenty-six years. We went outside of the saloon. I told him that was a pretty good wrestle he had with a fellow just before the game of pigeon hole began. I asked him to take a walk. We walked about two doors. Gibbons started back toward the saloon again, and the stranger and I followed. Gibbons and the stranger had been having some pretty hard words with each other and were angry. Gibbons said to us, "Stand back you ———— or I'll blow your brains out." I was nearest to him and made one step forward when he shot me in the abdomen. I caught hold of the revolver and afterwards seized him and backed him across the street and threw him down into a gutter. Just then a policeman came along and I told him to take him down, for he had shot me. That was the last of it. I make this statement believing that I must die soon."

The paper was attested by W.C.McCarthy and Frank P. Case.

THE DEFENSE.

The Commonwealth having closed, Mr. Reardon opened for the defense, stating to the jury what they expected to prove.

A number of witnesses were called to testify as to the good character of the defendant, after which Mr. James M. Caldwell, of the Mail, was put on the stand and testifiid that he had had a conversation with Edgar in the lock-up. He had been requested to hold his head while the physician was examining the wound. The physician remarked that the wound was a curious one, which led the witness to ask Edgar how the shooting happened. He asked him whether he and Gibbons had had a fight, and Edgar said they had not. They had been in the saloon together and Gibbons had lost his pocketbook. He searched one or two persons and the two went out. Edgar wanted to go away, but Gibbons kept holding him back, and insisted upon him returning to the saloon. Finally Edgar swore at him and told him if he didn't stop he "would put it into him." He said he saw a pistol in Gibbon's hand, and he made at him and tried to knock it away, when the pistol was discharged.

This closed the testimony, and Mr. Stillwagon opened the argument for the Commonwealth. He was followed by Mr. Reardon and Mr. Marshall for the defense. Mr. Marshall before commencing his argument to the jury submitted the following points to the court:

First—That the burden of proof is upon the Commonwealth, and the Commonwealth must prove to the satisfaction of the jury, each and every material fact necessary to make the offence charged in the indictment, otherwise the defendant is entitled to an acquittal.

Second—That in order to convict of the highest grade of murder the Commonwealth must prove a willful, deliberate and premeditated killing.

Third—That in order to convict of murder of the second degree, the jury must be satisfied that the prisoner intended to shoot the deceased or do him some enormous bodily harm.

Fourth—That if the jury believed the statement of the deceased as made to Mr. J. M. Caldwell, that the deceased knocked or grabbed the pistol thereby causing its explosion, the defendant is not responsible for the shooting or its consequence.

Fifth—If the jury believe from all the evidence in the case that the explosion of the pistol in the hand of the defendant or in the hand of any other person was the accidental result of the act of the deceased, defendant is entitled to a verdict of acquittal.

Sixth—That the fact of good character, if proved, is an element in the case from which the jury may raise the doubt which will justify a verdict of acquittal.

Seventh—If the jury from all the facts in evidence have a resonable doubt of any material fact necessary to make out the offence charged in the indictment, it is their duty to acquit.

Mr. Marshal was followed by District Attorney Montooth for the Commonwealth, who claimed that the defendant was guilty of murder in the second degree. The Court will charge the jury this morning.

A Chime of Bells in an Organ.

A most novel and beautiful thing has just been received by and is on exhibition at H. Kleber & Bro.'s Music Store, 122 Wood street. It is a parlor organ, with ten stops, in an elegant solid black walnut case, the panels inlaid with French walnut, and it has an attachment of two and a half octaves of silver bells, producing the most novel and beautiful effect imaginable. For certain kinds of sacred and secular music, this is an invaluable new invention, and we congratulate Messrs. Kleber & Bro. on having received the sole agency for them. As a piece of furniture, also, it surpasses anything ever made. The blow pedals are enclosed by sliding panels, out of sight, and the top can be let down so as to form a beautiful writing desk—altogether the most ornamental parlor instrument ever invented. It is worthy a visit to Kleber's to feast one's eyes and ears on this new Chimes-Organ.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 110.

WE saw a Lancaster county Republican yesterday,—a keen, shrewd man, who is positive in his declaration that Lancaster county will give 6,000 Republican majority.

WE did not expect the Philadelphia Times to stand by its first impression, that the bogus tax receipts were part and parcel of a Democratic fraud, but we notice that with all its limping, it does not get clear of the fact that it is somebody's fraud. It seeks to create the impression that the affair was a sell-out, on the part of MCMULLEN, for the benefit of ROWAN. This theory will hardly stand, in the light of all the facts. Even admitting that MCMULLEN did 'peach on his colleagues, it does not change the truth that those receipts were manufactured on the order of the responsible managers of the Democratic party, and intended for use in the Philadelphia market. If Republicans were knowing to it, the responsibility of the Democracy is none the less clear. But the intimations of the Times are only the expression of its suspicions, and nothing more. The fraud is the central fact, and this is not denied.

DEMOCRATIC DUPLICITY was fairly illustrated in the charges made that Treasurer WIDENER, of Philadelphia, is deficient in his accounts with the Auditor General over $300,000. It proves that his books have not been examined at all, and that the Mercantile Appraiser's books, which were examined, were not considered fully. Even the Mercantile Appraisers say that had they been asked, they could have told the examining committee that their books were not reliable as to collections made by the Treasurer. They contained assessments only. It is as if some one were to assume, in our city affairs, that assessments are fully collected, and having examined the assessments, and finding that the collections did not correspond in amount, were to declare the Treasurer a defaulter. Mr. WIDENER claims to be able to show that every dollar due the State has been paid, and that his cash account is all right. The story is put out by TEMPLE on the eve of election, to offset the tax receipt business, and has no other purpose.

THERE are tolerably clear indications of colonizing on the part of the Democracy, in this city, to an extent never before known. Certain wards are known to have received large accessions of unknown "boarders," who evidently intend to stay till after the election. The Republican Executive Committee have taken the proper steps in having a Supervisor of Elections appointed, who will appoint a Deputy of each political faith in such districts as ask it. The law thus deals with entire impartiality in the matter, and if both parties are not justly treated, it is not the fault of the law. Yet this is the enactment the Democracy strove so strenuously to repeal at the last session of Congress. They desired to open the door to fraud, and so sought to sweep aside the only law that stood between them and the most extensive frauds. The fact that they will attempt them in a city like Pittsburgh is a fact of the most decided importance, and points to the danger that actually exists. We underestimate the alertness of our people, if their fraudulent schemes are not frustrated.

THE Russian Government is acting vigorously in the matter of the Turkish war, and in the right direction. The policy of Turkey has been to keep the armistice question unsettled, but pending, until she could cripple the Servians so as to have them in her power. This she has partially accomplished; but at the critical juncture, Russia steps decidedly forward, and gives her forty-eight hours in which to sign an armistice. Refusing, she will have Russia to deal with in open war. In all this, Russia is undeniably correct. She has the perception to see that Turkey is simply trifling, and that she is holding the other great powers off, till she crushes Servia. Then, she will make peace with the advantages on her side. This Russia is determined shall not take place. Even now, Russia will not agree that the present military lines shall form the point of demarcation between the two, but Servia shall have some chance. At the present writing, the outlook is for Turkey to accept the requirements of Russia, and sign an armistice, after which negotiations will be in order. These may lead to peace.

IN HIS recent addresses, Mr. BLAINE has referred clearly and strongly to the claim of Mr. TILDEN to stand against his party in the so-called rebel claims. He shows that his language binds him to nothing. The South will carry its point, clearly and fully. A Democratic victory in its political aspect, means a reopening of the work of the last eleven years. What the North considers the righteous results of the war are at stake. The South proposes to re-arrange affairs in a manner that shall as far as possible atone for defeat and humiliation, and compensate for the losses it has borne. There are many methods by which the latter object may be secured. The great bulk of the claims to which Mr. TILDEN says he shall interpose the barrier of the Fourteenth amendment are not affected by that provision of the Constitution. The refunding of the cotton tax is really not touched by any plea he has urged. The subsidy schemes that are known to be in reserve would fasten upon the Government five hundred millions of debt, and there are other schemes for benefiting the South at a cost of a thousand millions more. These are stupendous prizes, and the South is struggling for them with frantic energy and utter indifference to the consequences. Is it surprising that business men recognize in the struggle the imminence of a great crisis, which only the continued supremacy of the Republican party can avert?

IF OUR friends imagine that we have strongly stated the damages to the country, of the possible ascendancy of the Democracy to power, we can only reply by offering a few pertinent and undeniable facts. It is affirmed that they do not, and would not murder the negroes for purposes of intimidation. And yet an honorable, truthful officer of the regular army (Captain LLOYD) arrived in that State with his company just in time to prevent a massacre of inoffensive negroes, which, he says, would have exceeded in its brutality the affair at Hamburg. They admonished him that the accession of Mr. TILDEN to power would bring a deluge of Southern claims for war losses upon the loyal North, and when the force of this statement commenced to be fully realized by the people, Mr. TILDEN himself comes to the front and confesses its truth, but begs the people to believe he will veto all such legislation. They admonished him that Mr. TILDEN would attempt to re-enact the frauds committed by himself and Mr. TWEED in New York in 1868, and carry this system into every State in the Union. And to-day we present the alarming and disgraceful exhibit of three employes of the grand conspiracy preparing for a wholesal fraud upon the ballot-box of this State by forgery, to be followed by perjury. Who can misinterpret the logic of these facts? We trust that the votes of the people will show their appreciation of the impending danger.

TWENTY-FIRST DISTRICT.

There has not been a nobler canvass made in the Congressional District comprising the counties of Westmoreland, Greene and Fayette, than is being the present year. It is a hopeless Democratic district, and our people made their nomination only a few days ago. Mr. RUSH, a lawyer of Waynesburg, Greene county, is the candidate. But the canvass is not made so much on the Congressional as on the Presidential and Legislative issue. In this direction a bold, earnest and even enthusiastic canvass is being made, the Republican meetings far exceeding, in numbers and interest, those of the Democrats. Mass meetings are called, during the week, at West Newton, Irwin, Greenfield, Brownsville, Greensburg, Connellsville, and several other points in the district. We have rarely seen more extensive or better organized marching clubs, representing voters in nearly every instance, than we have observed in this district. We greatly err if the Democratic majority is not overcome in the near future, and the Twenty-first District made Republican. As it is, our people are hopeful, even in Westmoreland, of securing a portion of the Legislative delegation.

A meeting was held at Scottdale, on the border of Westmoreland county, Tuesday evening, that was a suprise to all. The marching clubs alone numbered between nine hundred and one thousand by actual count, while the general attendance was enormous. The speaking was prolonged till nearly eleven o'clock in the evening, and yet the people remained, eager to hear. There were clubs and persons present from Connellsville, Brownsville and other points, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. The jubilance of feeling far exceeds that in this county, while the readiness to work would put some of our people to shame. While we do not expect the tide to be so turned as to change that Democratic stronghold into Republican territory, we do expect our people there to give a brilliant account of themselves. In Westmoreland, the struggle turns partially on the county offices. These have been in the hands of the Democracy for a long time, and the revelation of discrepancy in the Treasurer's accounts, about a year ago, makes them anxious to keep the county offices in their hands, in order to have no investigations of their accounts. Thus the Democracy have been greatly frightened of late, and have begun to use extreme efforts and money. Were our people as liberally supplied as they, we believe a part of the county ticket might be overthrown. As it is, our friends are making a noble fight, and deserve success. We are gratified, at all events, over the activity and good spirit displayed, and hope for the best results in the three counties comprising the Twenty-first District. If nothing more is done, we are entirely confident that a reduction of the Democratic majority will be made,—all of which will prove of great advantage. We have great hopes of a good report from Fayette, Westmoreland and Green counties.

WHAT IS INVOLVED.

There are many who desire to vote right who are disturbed by the idea that somehow the Republican party is wrong, and deserves to be punished, and yet dislike to vote for the Democracy. If they realized all the Democracy is, and how little truth there is in the reports of Republican corruption, their hesitancy would be gone, and they would do their duty like men. Let us state a few facts. A Democratic House devoted the bulk of an entire session to investigating the corruptions of the Republican administration. What did they find? BELKNAP, a Republican official, who was charged with selling post-traderships, and PENDLETON, a Democrat, who had collected a fraudulent claim of the Government. Honesty was the feature, and dishonesty the exception, in the several departments of the Government. They found the debt reduced $640,000,000, taxes cut down over $300,000,000, and the Government living within its means. This much we surely have, and a policy that is funding the debt at a lower rate of interest.

What will the Democracy probably give, if restored to power? It will give ascendancy to the South. This it cannot possibly prevent. It is the slave of the South. Its attitude toward it is precisely what it was in 1861—and must be, because the voting strength of the party is at the South. What will the South demand? Certainly that its wishes as to public poiicy shall be heard and respected. What are these? So far as disclosed, that their losses suffered in the war shall be made good. That the humiliation of defeat shall be repaired, and they have the honors and spoils of victory. This much is certain. What will the effect of this be? Certainly to seriously injure, if not actually destroy, the credit of the Government. As another has said: "A Democratic vote is a vote for general bankruptcy. True, it is not certain that the public credit would fall so much as 50 per cent. in the event of Democratic success, but any considerable fall would produce the same forced and sudden calling in of loans, the same general alarm, approximately the same ruin. No man could tell, as no man can tell now, how low the bonds might fall, and therefore, as soon as the fall became noticeable, men would hurry to get at their deposits, and the banks and companies would hasten to call in loans, and the crash would come. That a considerable fall would speedily result we may with reason infer, for the public credit was far below par when the Democrats were last in power; it has fallen every time their success was expected, and has risen promptly whenever that party was beaten in a national contest. Considering what any serious break in the public credit would involve, is it worth while for us to take the risk of another panic?" That danger would clearly be upon us should that party gain power.

There is much in their spirit that is threatening, but what form it might take cannot be accurately told at the outset. That they would aim to revenge themselves on the Republicans of the North and South is only too probable. They could only harm the North by prostrating its industries, through their policy of free trade. This they would probably do. At the South, however, the blacks would be at their mercy, and Republican whites as well. What course they would pursue can only be imagined. There have been many murders, and much barbarity there already. We fear for the result, and hope that our fears may not be realized. The only safety against them is in voting the straight Republican ticket.

POLITICAL NOTES.

"EXPERIENCE," wrote Gov. Tilden in his letter of acceptance of the St. Louis nomination, "has repeatedly exposed the futility of self-imposed restraints by candidates." But Sam was not aware when he wrote that paragraph that he would be called upon to write a letter on Southern claims.

AGAIN we have 1860 repeated. We are asked to intrust the Government to men who do not pretend that they can be trusted to resist a Southern demand, in the faith that our good friends at the south will not demand anything. "It is mere nonsense to pretend that the South intends to secede," we were told. Quite as much, and not more, the South can be trusted to-day. Quite as much, and not more, a party can be trusted which has proved by its whole history that it is the subservient tool of Southern leaders.

A MILD and gentle son of Southern chivalry edits the Raleigh Sentinel. This is the temperate and subdued way in which he begins an article under the title of Daniel H. Chamberlain: "If hell itself should gape and from its grimy portals send forth its blackest fiend, he would blush with shame, as he beheld the condition to which the miscreant hound whose name heads this article has reduced our twin sister, South Carolina, to see the devil so far outdone in deviltry." That man undoubtedly yearns for "reform" with terrible earnestness.

THE Republicans of Indiana cut down the Democratic majority in that State 13,000 in October, and they confidently expect to wipe out the remaining 5,000 in November. A good many Democrats remember that Mr. Bayless W. Hanna, before the St. Louis Convention, explicitly charged Mr. Tilden with swindling innocent stockholders in the Terre Haute road out of $300,000. Mr. Hanna has never withdrawn that charge, and never will. It stands against Tilden unanswered, and will not be without its influence on conscitious men.

SPEAKING of Mrs. Maria Evan's claims, the Cincinnati Commercial says: "Notwithstanding this conclusive and unanswerable report adverse to this monstrous claim, it has since been pressed before Congress, along with multitudes of others rejected by the Southern Claims Commission, and it would not be strange, provided the Democratic party and its principles should be indorsed by the people in the impending election, if that people were yet taxed to pay the trumped-up claims of these unregenerate rebels to the amount of hundreds of millions of dollars.'

A BALLOT for Hayes is a vote in favor of sound financial legislation, maintenance of the public credit, increasing business stability and prosperity, civil service reform, a just and magnanimous but not subservient policy toward the South, and a preservation inviolate of all the results of the war of secession. A vote for Tilden is a vote in favor of uncertain and probably disastrous financial legislation, possible destruction of the public credit, disturbance and demoralization of business, filling the public service with new men and unscrupulous politicians, turning over the Government to the South, and virtual destruction of the rights conferred by the Constitutional Amendments. On one side there is nothing but safety; on the other there is nothing but risk.

THEREFORE, there is no worse criminal in the land than the man who corrupts the ballot-box. His crime is the sum of all villainies. He is the assassin of liberty. The man who kills a fellow being takes one life. The man who corrupts the ballot-box makes a deadly assault upon the life of a nation, and endangers the liberties of a free people. These are considerations that come home to every citizen. It is not a question of party. It is a question of National life, and this involves the peace and happiness of the American people. We must, therefore, if we would preserve our liberties, if we would hand down unimpaired the sacred trust confided to us by the fathers, not only crush frauds upon the ballot-box and their aiders and abettors, but also the party or parties that countenance them. Our liberties are wrapped up in the ballot. It is the safeguard of our homes. It controls the administration of law. It is the pillar upon which society rests. Therefore, it should be scrupulously guarded. At all hazards, and at any cost, it should be protected.

"REFORM is necessary" when a man who drew up the notorious Credit Mobilier fraud aspires to the office of Chief Magistrate of the nation. "Reform is necessary" when a man who made money by drawing up schemes of fraud, and saved it by false statements and perjury, asks the nation to give him its highest office as the "great reformer." "Reform is necessary" when a candidate for the Presidency who talks hard money doctrine is found to have flooded an extensive mining district with bogus currency. "Reform is necessary" when this candidate puffs himself as a friend of the working man, and cheats his workmen by compelling them to take their pay in this bogus currency. "Reform is necessary" when a candidate for the Presidency who arraigns the Government for extravagance and dishonesty is found to have been the prime mover in some of the worst cases of "stock watering" known in our commercial history. "Reform is necessary" when this aspirant for popular favor talks feelingly about the working classes with the "wolf at the door," and is discovered to be the same man man who utterly ruined a prosperous manufacturing village in order to enrich himself and a clique of unscrupulous speculators.

THE POLAR EXPEDITION.

The Results of the Latest Attempts to Find a Northwest Passage.

The British Arctic expedition has returned, having failed, as has every other of the numerous expeditions that within the past two centuries have been sent out to make the long-sought Northwest Passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The vessels that went out upon this expedition—the Alert and the Discovery—were by all odds the staunchest and best equipped that ever sailed for the Arctic season a voyage of discovery. Both were steamers of the most approved model, and equipped with powerful engines so as not to be dependent upon contingencies of wind and tide. They were fitted out with every contrivance that ingenuity and experience could suggest and money buy to provide for the comfort and safety of those on board. Besides being loaded down with supplies, they were accompanied by a third ship with a full cargo of supplies, which was discharged at Disco, where a depot was established. The expedition was under command of Capt. Nares, one of the best officers in the British navy, and an experienced Arctic navigator. The crews were selected from among a large number of men who had sailed the Arctic seas, and back of all was the British Government ready to do all that could be done to insure the success of the expedition it sent out.

The expedition sailed from Portsmouth on the 29th of May, 1875, with the expectation that during the summer of that year the Alert and her consort could steam to the pole. But with all the resources at his command and concentrating these upon one vessel, the Alert, Capt. Nares found it impossible to penetrates further north than the 82nd parallel. From there a detachment was dispatched northward over the ice by sledges. But such were the obstacles encountered that in seventy days they only succeeded in pentrating one degree and twenty minutes further northward, though travelling 200 miles to accomplish it, when they reached 83 deg. 20 min. north, and were within 400 miles of the pole. They found ice 150 feet thick; the temperature for a fortnight was 59 below; once it fell to 104 below the freezing point, being the most intense cold ever experienced by human beings—at least by any who survived to report the fact. There were times when the sledge party could not advance one mile per day through the towering walls formed by the lapping of the great ice-ledges. The sufferings of this party was intense. Peterson, the interpreter, died from frost-bite. Three others died on the sledging expedition, and the survivors who reached the ship, after terrible suffering, returned only to report the impossibility of reaching the pole or of working the Northwest Passage. The expedition settles that there is no open Polar Sea, that President Land, laid down upon the maps of Captain Hall, does not exist, and that the Northwest Passage does not exist.

The expedition passed beyond the verge of animal life. In those icy solitudes was neither bird nor beast, not even the polar bear, nor the Arctic fox, nor the seal, were to be found, while they were far beyond any tribe of the Esquimaux. Yet there were discovered coal fields, showing indubitably that in the vast cycles of the past, so many ages ago that the imagination can scarce comprehend it, the temperature there was warm enough, from the earth's internal fires, for centuries upon centuries' growth of the ferns, which in other great cycles were transformed into the coal. The chief result of the expedition, however, is to demonstrate that the open Polar Sea, and the Polar Continent, and the Northwest Passage are myths, and that the periling of life in bootless Arctic explorations should cease.

LORD BYRON'S FIRST LOVE.

The Story Mary Chaworth's Servant Tells.

NOTTINGHAM, —— — I have been wonderfully entertained to-day by the story of old J——, Mary Chaworth's servant, "headman at Annesly Park." I should much like to know if any one else has been so fortunate as to hear the loquacious old man's account of Byron and his early love. When one hears a story like this from the lips of a servant it is surely worth while to consider whether, after all, great reputations are not apt to suffer from the ill-will of hirelings, and may not be too readily branded by the world, as prompt to condemn our failures as to applaud our attainments. Lord Byron suffers nothing from J——'s confession, but Mistress Chaworth was surely unfortunate in her confident dependence on a servant's faithfulness.

That was a funny sum total of J——'s when I asked his opinion of Byron's character: "Oh, his lordship were a fool. He didna knaw—grass from—grass. An' he never give me naught. But many's the pun' note Mr. Musters gie me for a chance to speak wi' Mary Chaworth."

So! and who knows if, but for the trick the old man confessed, Lord Byron would not have married one whose affectionate disposition and self-immolation for the object of her devotion might have saved to the world a pure and elevated poet, unsullied by the mire of wanton despair, and to Mary Chaworth a heart that loved her for herself? John Muster's triumph was cheaply purchased. I will record it all as old J—— related it.

"Ay, I remember well when his lordship who come riding like made into Annesly Park and his two great dogs flying along wi' him. 'My word,' old Mrs. Clark would say, 'if there doesn't come his lordship, and those nasty brutes are with him to spoil my nice white counterpaine!' You see, the brutes always sleep outside o' the covers on his lordship's bed."

"One fine day, when I was laying the cloth for dinner, Miss Mary sat in the great hall wi' her back to the lawn, an' she didn't see his lordship coming."

"How was she dressed?"

"Oh, she was dressed in a white silk gown, very low on the shoulders, an' a high belt under her arms, like. An' it were very long behind, an' so you could see her wee small feet in tiny slippers in front.

"Well, the great hall windows opened on the lawn, an' his lordship were quick enough to spy Miss Mary sittin' there. An' he came soft-like through the room, and before she knew it he leaned over her and kissed her beautiful white shoulder.

"Oh dear! will I ever forget how she flared? She sprang to her feet, and wi' a voice chokit wi' rage, she said, 'My lord! what does this mean? You never have so much as touched the hem of my garment, an' you never shall!' Then it were awful to see the fire in her eyes; she were the picture of her grandfather, who were killed in a duel wi' his lordship's grandfather across that very table. But she needna been so mad, for his lordship were a nice man enough but for his nub foot. Poor fool! she dina know John Musters were only after her money, an' his lordship loved her for herself. Mr. Musters were a handsome man, too, and he always gied me a pun' note; once he gied me a fi'-pun note, but I never told him I saw a five on it when I got home. I helped him to get rid o' his lordship, an' I fixed all the meetin's wi' his man. You see, I was head man at Annesly Hall, an' when the young heiress rode out, it was my place to ride after her, an' Mr. Musters' man would ride after him, an' we'd always go the same road."

"But how did you manage about Lord Byron?"

"Oh, he were like his mother—afraid o' the boglos."

"Bogles! and pray what are they?"

"Oh, the people out o' the kirkyard, that wouldna rest after duels an' that."

"Oh, yes; well, go on, please."

"An' it were for that his lordship always kept one o' the men waiting half the night next to his bedroom till he read himself to sleep. Well, one night it were my turn to wait, an' I waited till it were near morning, an' at last I couldna keep awake any longer, an' I just out an' said, 'I think, your lordship, it's time for reasonable folk to have done wi' crack reading an' go to sleep.' 'Fellow!' he shouted, like one stark mad, 'fellow! do you know to whom you are speaking?' 'Ay, your lordship, that I do; but I'm afeared o' naught—neither lord, duke, earl, nor king—for the matter o' that!'"

"I doubted I'd lose my place, but Mrs. Clark begged his lordship's forgiveness for me, and I wasna dismissed. But I made up my mind his lordship shouldna sleep more nor one night again in Annesly Hall."

"'Mrs. Clark,' I said, 'you'd rather the brutes would not spoil your white counterpane?' 'Ay, J——,' she said, 'but I dare not offend his lordship.'

"Well, I didna say aught, but I just went about it, and this is how I did it. The great bed in his lordship's room had heavy curtains, and they were hung on brass rings that run on brass bars, an' they made a deal o' noise an' rattlin' when they were drawed. I found a big ball o' pack thread, an' I run one end through all the rings on one side, and th'other through all the rings on th'other side; and when I carried the two ends down the posts and along the floor I cut a clean slice of the bottom o' the bed-room door, so the thread would be sure to pull easylike; an' I put the rug over the thread, an' then I couldn't ha' told myself aught was wrong.

"After me tellin' his lordship a piece o' my mind about his crack reading, they took the next man to me to wait on him for that night, an' I thought it would be morning before he ever would have done, he was so intolerable long. But at last I heard the door of his lordship's room open, an' soon as everything was quiet I peeped through the crack, and made sure the master and the brutes were all sleepin'. Then I pulled the thread. It was an awful shriekin' the ring made over the brass bars, an' in a second, crack! went a pistol and the dogs barked; crack! went another pistol, an' the dogs howled, and his lordship called, 'help! help! thieves! thieves!'

"I ran to my bed fast as my legs would carry me, an' in a minute all the doors in the house flew open, an' candles were flarin' and women screamin', an' all the men poundin' on his lordship's door an' callin' 'Open the door, my lord. There be five o' us here, and we'll soon make sure of the rascals.'

"Some one came an' tried to waken me, but you know I had my breeches on, an' if i'o got out o' bed they'd known I was at the bottom of the mischief.

"'Go 'long to the great room, an' I'll come,' I said at last, yawnin', an' then makin' as if I had just hauled on my clothes, I joined the men at the door, and after his lordship was convinced we couldn't burst the door in he opened it, and such a rushin' of men and dogs was never seen afore. Lookin' up the chimney and under the bed, I were really frightened at the danger I was in o' bein' found out, an' shakin' all over, when I said: "There be naught here, your lordship—neither thieves nor murderers—an' I doubt it was the bogles from the kirkyard yonder.'

"My word! no one slept any more in the hall that night, an' it was the last time his lordship ever went to bed at Annesly Park."

"But you are sorry now J—— for the trick you played, since Miss Chaworth might have married him if she had known Lord Byron better, and had not been deceived by Mr. Musters?"

"Ay, that I be, an it often gied me agin my conscience when I waited till all the folk would be asleep in the hall, an' then I'd bring Miss Chaworth down to meet Musters in the dining hall, an' leave 'em a bit to chat an' that; an' when I'd knock sometimes he wouldn't go, and I'd have to tell him he must, for the folks would soon be stirring in the hall. And oh, the picnics we had in the groves! I'd send out the hampers by the men to the blacksmith's, an' they never knowed what was in them. And Muster's man would get them, and lay the cloth on the sod, an' such long, merry talks they'd have, while we strolled away a bit, an' then they'd go off together while we'd lunch a bit. The very last time we were feastin' in the groves Muster's man said: 'So many bottles are strawn around, an' these be nice ones, J——; one for you an' one for me; an' we put 'em in our great coats; an' there they are; you can have 'em both if you want them. Ah, little did the poor young thing know what was comin'! The day she was of age she married Mr. Musters, an' a month from that she paid £100,000 to the money lenders, that were only waitin' all the time for his promise to pay them when he married the heiress. And oh, she was the most unhappy woman alive when he openly treated her bad-like! an' all he wished of her was money! money! Never will I forget the day his lordship's funeral was comin' to the inn at Nottingham. My poor mistress came into the town an' up to the very door, before she knowed whose funeral it was. She was so stricken with trouble an' illness that the folks thought even then she were some'at daft. An two years more was a' she could manage. She died from the madhouse.—Lippincott's Magazine.

—Paul Nicart, a noted manager of minor theaters at Paris a generation since, is dead. He opened a theater but to fail and be imprisoned for debt, and was almost as speedily discharged to open another theater. One day Dumas went to the jail to see him. "He has just been set at liberty," said the keeper. "Very well," said Dumas, taking a chair, "I will wait for him."

A PERTINENT QUESTION.

Shall We Have a Fair Election?

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

Through you I wish to ask whether this Nation is to have an honest and fair vote on next Tuesday for the highest office in our gift. I remember the Wallace fiasco, a few year since, when Judge Williams was cheated out of the Supreme Judgeship, and ask myself what has been Mr. Wallace's reward by the Democratic party, and the answer comes in placing him in the United States Senate. I remember, also, the counting in of Gov. Hoffman, in 1868, in New York by this same S. J. Tilden, who is now asking to be made President. See H. Greeley's letter to him of 1869. Thus we see the rewards such rascalities receive from the Democratic party. Is there to be no end to these atrocities, and no punishment for such crimes? What are our liberties worth? How long will the semblance of liberty continue under the practice of such dark deeds? Wholesale cheating in every possible way here at the North, and terrorism, threats and murder at the South, and all by this same party who proclaim "reform" as a catch word to gull simple ones.

The Mule.

BY MARTIN F. T——PP——R.

Who hath seen a Mule die?
Hath the vision of Man encompassed one upon his Last Legs and about to Keel Over?
Nixy, my boy, for the Mule is immortal!
He liveth a thousand years and then Braceth Up and taketh a Fresh Hold for years twenty thousand.
Such is the Vastness, the Grandeur, the Greatness of the animile. He is a Big Thing!
Why is he a Thing that is Big?
Thou fool, go to the Ant and Consider!
He is Big because he is not Little, and Bigness differeth from Littleness even as the Flea differeth from the Barn-door.
Be wise, oh Man. Pad out thy skull with Knowledge and learn Wisdom of me, the Poet of Nature.

The Modest Maiden.

A Dubuque girl played copenhagen at a party the other night, and yelled and shrieked and howled and ran behind the door and scratched the young man's face in seven places, and upset a kerosene lamp, and kicked over the piano stool, and screamed for the police, and finally, when he kissed her just on the tip of the ear, she fainted dead away, and said she could never look anyone in the face again, and they led the bashful, modest creature sobbing home. The next day she ran away with a married lightning-rod peddler with a hare-lip and six children.

F. H. EATON & CO.
Are now prepared to show the largest line of Ladies and Children's Suits and Cloaks ever opened in this city, and at prices in accordance with the wants of the times.
During the period of extreme depression in prices of woolen goods in New York they made contracts for several hundred Rough Cloth Coats, which they now offer at as low prices at retail as it is possible to buy the same goods elsewhere in the United States.
Our lines of Suits were never so extensive and inviting, and comprise all the favorite shades and fabrics, made in the latest styles.
In Basket, Beaver and Chinchilla Cloths we have all the new styles of Garments, in size to suit children from 2 years to the largest sized woman.
Stylish Polonaise, Basque and Overskirts in great variety.
We are prepared to make to order in our work rooms Silk and Cashmere Suits, either from our own goods or those brought to us by customers, at short notice.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, November 2, 1876.

A moderate, but constant and tolerably regular demand continues to be made on the banks for accommodations, for regular and legitimate business purposes. The banks are readily able to meet the entire demand, and could accept more. They are, however, quite cautious, and are disposed to be on the safe side. They stand ready to aid in the active development of business, but apparently wish to realize that this must be had, if they are to be free handed.

The rate of loans continues quite regular,—8 and 10 per cent. being the prevailing figures.

NATIONAL BANK NOTE REDEMPTION.

When a national bank receives from the Washington redemption bureau a lot of its fit-for-circulation redeemed bills, what is there to prevent it from exchanging those bills, as soon as received, and even in the original package, with its nearest neighbor bank for its neighbor's package just come back from the same bureau and in the same shape? And having made the even exchange, what is to prevent either of the exchanging banks from making up the deficiency in their Washington 5 per cent. funds by sending at once to Washington the bills just returned from that point? So far in the workings of the redemption bureau there has, as far as we know, been nothing of this sort done, but we can see no obstacles in the way of the movement. The national act says that all deficiencies in the 5 per cent. fund may be made good either by the deposit at the nearest sub-treasury of legal tenders, or by remittance to Washington of national bills.

There is prevailing among the banks a custom of sending to the Washington redemption bureau, in 5 per cent. fund remittances, packages of miscellaneous national bills without sorting out their own individual issues. The redemption agent at Washington should long ago have observed this custom, and have put a stop to it. If allowed to go on without restriction we shall have transactions such as this for instance:

The Fifth National Bank of Boston, wishing to remit to make up deficiency caused by redemption of fifty thousand of its bills, grabs a lot of large and small national bills, counts them without sorting out the issues of the Fifth National, of which there may be a goodly proportion, and rushes them on to Washington. The clerks in the redemption department there, on examination of the bills, find say forty thousand of bills of other banks, and ten of the sending bank, of which they must at once be notified, and which must at once be returned to them over the same track they have just traveled.

OUR GOLD ACCUMULATIONS.

The Boston Bulletin in discussing our gold supply argues that as our exports now largely exceed our imports we are steadily piling up gold to resume upon. It then says: "The question now arises, what disposition should be made, between now and 1879, of the steadily accumulating stock of gold? If nothing is done by the Government it will swell the deposits of New York banks, where, under the provisions of our banking system in regard to reserves, it may be banked upon to four times its amount. This contingency is full of danger. We should be continually menaced by the possibility of another almost unlimited inflation of credit. There are three ways in which this danger may be averted: 1st, by new legislation to bring about contraction of legal tenders; 2d, by enforcing the resumption law, which directs the Secretary to sell bonds and accumulate gold; 3d, by taking away from the banks the privilege of using specie as a reserve. The first method would be almost impossible of adoption because of its extreme unpopularity in the West and South. The second is entirely feasible, and, rather than that nothing should be done, it is to be hoped that it may be carried out. There are two objections to this method, neither of which is very important: that it will necessitate payment of interest on the bonds for two years that might be dispensed with, and that it might cause a scarcity of gold and rise in the premium. To the third method for obviating this new form of inflation we see no objection whatever. Unless the privilege of using specie as a reserve be abolished we shall be in continual danger, between now and 1879, of an insidious inflation of credit."

THE SILVER COMMISSION.

The "Silver Commission" is now organized as follows: Senators John P. Jones, of Nevada; George S. Boutwell, of Massachusetts; and Lewis V. Bogy, of Missouri; Representatives R. L. Gibson, of Louisiana; Richard P. Bland, of Missouri; and George Willard, of Michigan; experts, William S. Groesbeck, of Cincinnati, and Prof. Francis Bowen, of Cambridge; Statistician and Corresponding Secretary, Alexander Delmar, of Philadelphia; Recording Secretary, George M. Weston, of Boston. The Commission is in session in New York taking evidence. A sub-committee will shortly start for the Pacific Coast to take evidence there with regard to the production of the precious metals in California, Nevada, etc., and in reference to other matters intrusted by Congress to the Commission.

SILVER.

The significance to the silver market of the proposed increase by Germany of its silver currency is that, if accomplished, Germany will sell about $50,000,000 less silver than was at first calculated. It is in anticipation of this that the silver market has become firmer.

NEW YORK, November 1, 1876.

Money was active at 3½@6, closing at 5@6; prime mercantile paper 4@6. The customs receipts were $190,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $766,000. The clearings were $21,000,000. Sterling was weak at 482@484. Gold was firmer at the close and advanced to 110. The opening quotation was 109⅞ and the lowest 109⅞. The carrying rates were 1, ½, 2½, 2, 4 and 3 per cent. Loans were also made flat. Governments were dull, but strong. Railroad bonds were unusually quiet this afternoon, but the market was firm. Union Pacific firsts advanced to 106½, New Jersey Central consolidated firsts to 87½, and Michigan Central sevens to 102½, ex interest. State bonds were quiet and steady, and prices nominal. Stocks opened feverish, but strong, and so continued until after noon, when the market became weak and lower on an announcement that the railroad conference, after three sittings, were not able to agree at present, and had adjourned, subject to a call of the chairman. The chief decline was in Lake Shore, Michigan Central, Western Union and New York Central. Lake shore declined to 57 1-4, Michigan Central to 46 1-4, Western Union to 70 3-4, New York Central to 101⅞, Northwest preferred to 59 1-8, St. Paul common to 24½, preferred to 54 3-4, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western to 73 1-8, Pittsburgh to 90, and Pacific Mail to 24 1-4. Just previous to the close of business there was a firmer feeling, and prices rallied 1-4 to ½ per cent. from the lowest point of the day, Lake Shore selling up to 57 7-8, Michigan Central to 47, New York Central to 102, Western Union to 71⅛, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western to 74, Northwest common to 38, preferred to 59½, St. Paul common to 25 and preferred to 55½. Transactions were 184,000 shares, of which 4,000 were Pacific Mail, 41,000 Western Union, 4,000 Northwests; 9,000 St. Pauls, 80,000 Lake Shore, 4,500 Wabash, 26,000 Michigan Central, 7,500 Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, and 5,000 New Jersey Central.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, November 1, 1876.

Business in commercial circles was reported fair to-day, but the leading articles of merchandise are devoid of anything new or particularly important.

APPLES—In good supply, and while the demand is increasing prices are barely maintained, ranging from $1a1,50 ⅌ bbl, as to quality and condition.

BUTTER—The warm weather has still more depressed the market, which was bad enough before; some dealers quote prime to choice rolls now at 20a22c.

BEANS—Quiet and unchanged; $1,40a1,50 ⅌ bu.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—3¾a4c ⅌ pound.

BROOM CORN—Choice green brush that will work up, 5¾a6; choice hurl, 6¼a7c; medium, 5¾c for green, and 5½c for red tipped. Covers and insiding, 4a5c; crooked, 2½a3¾.

CHESTNUTS—$3,50a4 ⅌ bushel.

CHEESE—Unchanged; prime Ohio Factory, 13¼a13½ to the wholesale trade, and 1c additional in a jobbing way.

CRANBERRIES—$9a11 per bbl.

CIDER—Is not in large supply here, but it is very dull, and that the stock is not large is because commission men are, and have been, discouraging consignments all fall; quotable at $3a4 ⅌ bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—There is, as noted in our last, some inquiry for Apples for export and the supply here is small; we continue to quote at 5a6c ⅌ lb. The stock in first hands is heavy, and the probability is that just as soon as the export trade is supplied the market will be very dull. Peaches in light supply, but there is no demand for them.

EGGS—The market is easier in consequence of increased receipts. Quoted at 24a27c for fresh stock—guaranteed as such; pickled, 22a25.

FLOUR—The market is easier in tone and the demand has fallen off, although prices remain unchanged. We continue to quote, in a jobbing way, at $6,50a6,75 for good brands of either winter or spring. Patents and fancy white wheat brands, $8a9. Rye Flour, $4,50a5.

GROCERIES—Trade in our market is only fair, although some houses appear to be pretty well supplied with orders. In regard to Coffee, the New York Bulletin of Tuesday says: "The market retains its former firm tone, notwithstanding the increased receipts, the stock still being far below that held at this time last year. In addition, the demand is pretty good, and the foreign advices are favorable to holders. Jobbers are doing a fair business and disposed to add to their supplies." The same paper says of Sugars: "Raw sugar has jumped up ⅛c per pound within a week, the advance being attended with considerable transactions. The closing quotations of the week were 9⅜a9⅝c for fair to good refining. The sales here for a week ending Saturday morning were 11,3.7 hhds, 7,696 bxs and 9,547 bgs. Refined has sold briskly, in part for export, at a marked advance, the closing quotations being very firm at the higher figures. Prices are now far above those ruling at this time last year. It may be added that while fair to good refining is now quoted 9⅜a9⅝c, the prices at this time last year were 7¾a8c, which is of course a very large difference.

GRAIN—The market for Wheat is steady with a fair milling demand, but prices remain unchanged at $1,27a1,30 for good to prime Penna. and Ohio red. A Chicago paper of Tuesday says: The Russian fever seems to have entirely died out from the foreign markets, and flatness follows excitement, except in the case of securities, which had been depressed by fears of a general strife among the more civilized nations of the Old World. The intimation that Russian wheat was again on sale in the ports of England, and at low prices, was reason enough for dullness in breadstuffs here, and the effect was far from being equal to the cause. The Oat market remains as last quoted; mixed, 36a37; white, 38. Shelled Corn is in light supply and reported steady at 57a58c on track. New Ear Corn is quotable all the way from 40 to 45, and old at 55a56. Rye, 70a72. Barley is still quotable at from 90c to $1,15 per bu, as to quality and condition.

HAY—Baled is reported very dull, but prices remain unchanged. No. 1 Timothy, $14a15.

MILL FEED—Bran is in better supply and easier; $12,50a13 per ton; Middlings firmer and higher; $21a23.

ONIONS—In fair demand, but the supply is ample and prices remain unchanged; $2a2,50 ⅌ bbl.

LARD OIL—There is a firm market and a good demand for winter strained. We quote Procter & Gamble's make as follows:

Double Extra Winter	95
Alexander Extra	85
No. 1	80
No. 2	70
Best White Miners	61
Do. Yellow	56

These are the jobbing prices—round lots can be bought at a shade lower prices.

POULTRY—Live chickens selling by the coop at 40a50c ⅌ pair, according to size.

POTATOES—Quoted at 65a75c per bushel in a jobbing way out of store. Sweets, $2,50a3,50 per bbl, the outside figure for prime Jerseys.

PROVISIONS—The market for the hog products continues offish in tone, but with the exception of Mess Pork, which we have reduced slightly, prices remain unchanged.

TALLOW—Is reported easier; rough quoted at 6½; city rendered, 8¼c per lb; country, 7¾c.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Nov. 1, 1876.

The Crude market continues quiet and rather weak in tone, with no material change in prices. United certificates were quoted this P. M. at $3,10, and shipment at $3,05. Shipment has been lower than United certificates for some days, which is owing to the fact that there is very little demand for actual oil—refiners are buying very sparingly.

The position of the Refined market remains unchanged, the Combination refiners are firm at 26, but there are no buyers. Price to home trade buyers unchanged at 23c.

Oil Barrels unchanged at $1,05 for countries and $1,20 for city make.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, November 1, 1876.

ARRIVALS.

Following shows the aggregate receipts for the week as well as those of preceding week also:

	This week.	Last week.
Cattle	397 cars.	233 cars.
Hogs	160 "	224 "
Sheep	57 "	71 "
Total	614 "	628 "

Briggs, Dock & Drum, Commission Merchants for the sale of live stock, at the East Liberty Stock Yards, report the markets as follows:

CATTLE.

Of the 397 cars reported for the past week, 147 cars were through and 250 cars local against 129 cars of through, and 204 cars of local preceding week. Sales, 3,635 head; last week, 2,505 head.

As will be seen, the 'run' both of through and local cattle during the past week, has been considerably in excess of that of the preceding week, but the quality was mostly common; hence while the market for the common and even medium grades has been very dull and prices lower, prime No. 1 shipping cattle, the supply being light, unequal to the demand, are bringing fully as much as last week; indeed, some well informed operators quoted an advance of 10a15c ⅌ cwt. For rough, half-fatted stock, however, the market was about as hard as it could be, and those owners who came out with a whole skin, did well, as the grade of cattle in question, in not a few instances, there is reason to believe, did not bring much more here than they cost at home.

Following are the ruling quotations as we close our report:

Extra 1,500a1,600 steers	5,00a5,25
Prime 1,300a1,400 steers	4,75a5,00
Good 1,100a1,200 steers	4,00a4,50
Bulls, Cows and Stags	2,50a3,25
Stockers, as to quality	3,00a3,25

It requires something strictly first-class to bring more than 5c, although there were several cars sold at 5,10.

SHEEP.

The arrivals during the past week have been light—unusually so—but with a very limited demand there has been no improvement in prices, except for the very best, and then the advance did not exceed 12½c ⅌ cwt. To-day the market was very slow, the feeling scarcely as good as it was yesterday, and the outlook is not very encouraging.

Following are the ruling quotations as we close our report:

Extra 95a100 lbs fine wooled	4,00a4,80
Prime 85a90 lbs " "	4,25a4,50
Good 75a80 lbs " "	3,75a4,00
Fair 70a75 lbs " "	3,25a3,50
Common 70a75 lbs " "	2,75a3,00
Indianas, as to quality	3,50a4,75

HOGS.

The run has been comparatively light during the past week, 64 cars less than that of the week preceding, but with a diminished demand, owing to the warm weather and downward tendency in the west, prices, as compared with the date of our last report, are considerably lower.

Following are the ruling quotations as we close our report:

Good Philadelphia Hogs	5,90a6,00
Fair Philadelphia Hogs	5,60a5,75
Good Yorkers	5,25a5,50
Common to fair Yorkers	4,85a5,20
Roughs	4,00a4,50

One car of extra Philadelphia hogs brought 6,15, and 3 decks of scalawags sold at 4.85.

All drafts must be attached to the original shipping bill, and in no case drawn for more than two-thirds of stock. Please telegraph amount of draft and car Nos.

Western Hog Supply.

The Kansas City Price Current publishes hog returns from various localities in the West. Editorially summing them up, it says:

The Price Current, appreciating the importance of obtaining reliable information in reference to the hog supply in Western Missouri, Kansas, Southeastern Nebraska and Southwestern Iowa, has been at some pains to learn the number which will be probably marketed within the next six months, how the numbers compared with last year and what effect the cholera has had. We are pleased to be able to lay these special reports before our readers this week, as well as other information in reference to hogs, which can not but prove to be of general interest. While our special reports do not cover every county in the localities to which reference has been made, yet there is a sufficiency to give one an idea of the hog crop of the country tributary.

In looking over these reports we find that in Western Missouri, out of 15 counties heard from, 10 indicate that the crop is larger than last year, 4 less than last year, and one about the same. As to the effects of the cholera, 10 report it as having been destructive, one as having experienced no cholera, and four as having done but little damage.

In Kansas, out of 37 counties reported, 28 indicate that the crop will be larger than last year, one as less, and eight as about the same. The cholera has been very destructive in three counties, while in five it has been mild, and in 29 there has been none.

The reports from Southeastern Nebraska show a uniform gain over last year, and but little cholera.

From Southwestern Iowa, out of nine counties reported, one shows an increase over last year, six less and two about the same. In six counties the cholera has been destructive, in one none and in two little damage has been done.

It will thus be seen that from these reports, which are as reliable as it is possible to get them, and from disinterested parties, Kansas, Western Missouri and Southeastern Nebraska's hog crop will be larger than last year, while the majority of the reports from Southwestern Iowa show a falling off.

While the Price Current has never contended that the hog crop of the country tributary would be enormous, yet we have always believed that it would be larger than last year and a sufficiency for the demand from home packers. Our reports indicate that our judgment was correct.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

THE water in the river at this point was about stationary yesterday, with 5 feet 1 inch by the marks last evening. Weather continues cloudy and warm, threatening rain.

THE James and John Gilmore are due to-day.

THE Hawk departed for Parkersburg with a light tow of coal.

THE Whale went to the ore pile on Monday to load for Pittsburgh.

THE Tom Lysle and Resolute left for Cincinnati to bring up tows of empty barges.

THE rate on freight from Yankton, on Missouri River, to Pierre is $1,50 per hundred.

THE Emma Graham, from Cincinnati, arrived and departed with a fair trip each way.

THE Sam Brown arrived from Freedom, where she had been laid up for some time on account of low water.

CAPT. DILLON, of Wheeling, has gone to New Orleans in search of a trade for the Phaeton, or to find a purchaser.

THE colors on the Cincinnati levee were displayed at half-mast on Monday, in respect to the memory of the late Capt. Ed. Evans.

THE C. W. Hornbrook, from Wheeling, arrived, with a cargo consisting mostly of pig iron. The Tom Rees arrived from Cincinnati with a tow of empty barges.

THE punctual and popular steamer Granite State is again on the track. She will arrive from Portsmouth to day, and returns to-morrow on time. Wash Kerr continues in command, and Mr. R. H. Kerr has charge of the office.

THE water in front of Delta is getting so shallow that boats experience some trouble in landing there and getting out again. Several boats have grounded there recently, and the probabilities are that they will be forced to stop landing there at all.

THE Vicksburg Herald: Every boat that comes South now-a-days, from any direction whatsover, seems to want cotton, and, as a rule, every boat that comes along gets more or less of the staple. Still there is plenty left for the packets for the present.

CAPT. J. J. DARRAGH telegraphs Capt. R. W. Dugan that the Rosa Miller, recently sunk in the Arkansas River, can not be raised and that he will wreck her. She is badly careened, with 8 feet of water over her main deck and the sand cutting out rapidly under her.

MARTIN MORVER, of Arcola, Minn., is building a boat, a side-wheeler at that point, the wheels being armed with long, sharp-pointed spikes, and said boat will progress on runners, and ply between Stillwater and Taylor's Falls on the ice. Ample preparations have been made to guard against snow and rotten ice, but how the pilot will steer the craft is as yet dark and bloody mystery.

A ST. LOUIS special to the Cincinnati Commercial under date of Monday, says: Business is moderately active. The Glencoe is receiving to leave for New Orleans to-morrow evening. The receipts of produce from the upper trades are heavy. The K. N. Line packets brought in 2,000 tons to-day. Capts. E. A. Sheble and J. M. Vandergrift and Com. G. H. Rea, who have been on the sick list for the past week, are all improving. The Whale and Thos. W. Means are loading barges at the ore piles, but will not get away for two or three days as ore is coming in slowly. The shippers to way points below Vicksburg held a meeting in the Directors' room of the Exchange to-day, to discuss the subject of way freights from St. Louis as compared with other cities. It was determined that way freights were too high in proportion to the through rates from St. Louis, and a committee were appointed to confer with steamboatmen on the subject, and report to the meeting to-morrow morning.

THE ST. LOUIS Republican says: Many years ago a steamer named the Grace Darling entered the Wheeling trade from Cincinnati, or some other point on the Ohio. She was a large sternwheeler for those days, the hull being 35 feet wide. She had a carrying capacity of 600 tons and drew only 18 inches light. She was built for Captain Neal, at Madison, Ind. Her engines had 7 feet stroke. Jas. S. Loudon, previously clerk of the Highflyer, took charge of her office. An account of her written before she had made a trip, said: "The doctor engine is on an improved plan, the piston to the cylinder being in line with the water and bilge pumps, a continuous shaft was working all of them. The buckets of her wheel are also on a new plan, being bent in the shape of a bow, or rather inverted, so that the bucket does not strike the water all at once with a flat surface, but rather like a scoop. This prevents the jar usual to the common bucket, and also prevents the lifting of water as the bucket emerges.' How this odd wheel succeeded is perhaps not recorded. This boat was probably the Grace Darling, afterward purchased by Capt. F. Devinney for the Illinois river.

HOME NEWS.

Parties who do not receive the GAZETTE by 7 A. M., are requested to notify the office, and the tardiness will be corrected at once.

The probabilities for to-day are warmer southerly, veer to colder west and northwest winds, falling, possibly followed by rising barometer, cloudy and rainy weather.

A Sad Accident.

A two-year-old child of Luke Loomis, residing on Stevenson street, met with a most distressing accident yesterday, if accident it may be called. While playing about the room it upset a can of concentrated lye, the contents of which ran all over its face and neck, burning it so severely that at best it will always be terribly disfigured. The sufferings of the child were most excruciating, notwithstanding everything was done for its relief. This is another warning to parents, and should be heeded.

Allegheny Blazes.

At half past five o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was sent in from box 53. It was caused by a large can of oil in Henry Geisler's grocery store No. 51 Spring Garden avenue catching fire. The can was thrown into the street where the fire was smothered out. The loss will not exceed $15. At twenty minutes before eight o'clock the department was again called out by an alarm from box 37. This alarm was the result of a slight fire on the roof of a frame addition to Carlin's foundry on Lacock street. No damage of consequence was done.

Fatal Accident.

An accident occurred at Dallas station, on the Pennsylvania railroad, yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, resulting in the death of Wm. Hampton, a resident of the Eleventh ward, this city. Mr. Hampton attempted to cross the railroad track in front of the Pacific express west, when he was struck and a portion of the train passed over him, inflicting injuries from which he died a short time afterwards. The deceased was twenty years of age and was a nephew of the Hon. Moses Hampton, of this city. The Coroner has been notified and will hold an inquest on the body this morning.

Mayor's Office.

The report of business in the Mayor's Office during last month is as follows: Arrests: Central Station—Drunkenness, 215; disorderly conduct, 200; vagrancy, 9; suspicious persons, 11; court charges, 36; violating city ordinances, 6. These were disposed of as follows: Paid fines, 135; committed to jail, 164; Work House, 35; held for court, 25; discharged, 109; returned to Franklin authorities, 2; sent to hospital and since died, 1. Total, 477. Receipts—Fines and forfeitures, $460.80; police fees, $122.95; commitment receipts, $251; dramatic licenses, $110. Total, $994.95. Arrests at Thirtieth ward station, 84; receipts $95.20. The Mayor himself now hears the cases in the Thirtieth ward Station. The reports of the deputies were not in last evening.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

An Old Man Falls Down Stairs and Breaks His Neck.

About twenty minutes before 12 o'clock last night, Mr. John Woolen, who resided in the rear of No. 701 Penn avenue, fell down stairs at his residence, and broke his neck, killing him instantly. The family were in bed at the time, but were awakened by the noise. He was between seventy and eighty years old, but was very active for his age. He was an old soldier, having served in the Union army during the greater portion of the late war. He leaves a wife and four grown up children, two girls and two boys.

AN ALLEGHENY MYSTERY.

Apparent Indications of Foul Play.

Just now the Allegheny police authorities are engaged in the endeavor to unravel a mystery that has made its appearance over there to annoy and disturb the peace of mind of Chief Ross. No sooner is one trouble gotten out of the way than another one makes its appearance. About 5 o'clock yesterday morning officer Emanuel found a bundle of female wearing apparel lying on the railroad track near Marion avenue, and on opening it he found a chemise saturated with blood around the neck band, and several inches below the band. The bundle also contained two pair of stockings, a night shirt and dress. The railroad watchman stated that he had seen two men throw the bundle where it was found about 11 o'clock during the night, and then hastily walk on down the railroad. The bundle was removed to the Mayor's office.

PITTSBURGH COMMITTEES.

Meetings of the Market and City Property Committees.

The Market Committee held a regular monthly meeting last evening, Mr. C. Roth presiding. The monthly report of the Superintendent of the Markets for October was read and approved, as follows:

Receipts.—Diamond Market, $3,252.89; South Side, $1,131 30; Fifth avenue, $146.15; Ninth ward, $34 60. Total, $4,564.94.

Expenditures.—Diamond Market, $449.01; South Side, $213.19; Fifth avenue, $68.34; Ninth ward, $25.00. Total, $746 54.

Adjourned.

The City Property Committee held a regular monthly meeting, Mr. W. B. Hunter presiding. The pay roll of City Hall for October, amounting to $370, and other bills amounting to $447.19, were approved. Among the latter bills was one for the quarterly rent of the Central Station property, on Diamond street, amounting to $375.

Adjourned.

ALLEGHENY MISHAPS.

A Chapter of Runaways and Accidents.

A very serious runaway took place on the New Brighton road, Tenth ward, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon. A party of six men were driving along the road with three buggies, two men in each buggy, when one of the horses became frightened and ran off. This frightened the other horses and they also ran off. The occupants of one of the buggies were thrown out and one of the men so seriously injured that he had to be carried to his home in the Second ward and medical aid summoned. Before the horses could be stopped one of them was very severely cut and the buggies were all badly damaged.

One of the wheels of Mr. James Orr's buggy broke down as he was driving along Irwin avenue, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon, and Mr. Orr was thrown out and his leg injured. Mr. W. M. Claney, who was also in the buggy at the same time, escaped uninjured.

About half-past three o'clock yesterday afternoon, as a daughter of Col. Andrews was driving up Federal street in a small barouche to which was attached a pair of Shetland ponies, one of the wheels broke and she was thrown out upon the street. Fortunately she escaped with a few bruises.

Longevity.

How comfortable the thought that we shall live to a mellow old age and go to our rest as one who wraps the drapery of his couch around him and lies down to pleasant dreams. But do not expect to attain to a happy old age without guarding against rheumatism and kindred ills, by supplying yourselves with such good and durable boots and shoes as are sold by R. Taggart, 129 Federal street, which you can do without inconvenience, as his prices are the lowest, while his goods are of the very best.

THE SHARPSBURG TROUBLE.

Not so Bad as First Reported.

The report of a serious and possibly fatal assault upon Bryant Naughton of Sharpsburg, was published yesterday morning. Since we have learned that the case is not nearly so bad as first reported. It appears that Naughton and Teddy Wickham had been drinking in the Run saloon, and got to quarreling about who should pay for the drinks.

After they left the tavern going towards Sharpsburg, Teddy Wickam picked up a stone and hit Naughton on the head. They ran over to Sharpsburg, and when near Wm. Noble's house, Teddy picked up a clinker and hit Naughton a second time, on the right side of the head, causing a very severe cut and fracturing the skull. The three then came up the street as far as Squire Keil's office, when Naughton left the crowd. He was bleeding considerably. When he was hit he did not think he was hurt, and as he went into the office of Squire Kiel he was crying and wanted to make an information. The Squire did not take it, and told him to wait until he was sober. He was then taken to the house of Mrs. Wickam, Teddy's mother, and Dr. Brinton summoned. He was taken to his own home yesterday. It is said that jealousy is at the bottom of it all. No arrests had been made at last accounts.

THE FINAL GRAND RALLY.

An Immense Demonstration Expected.

Earnest Meeting of the Iron Manufacturers—The Boys in Blue to the Front—Present from the Loyal Ladies—Staff of the Old City Division.

THE BIG PARADE.

The utmost vigor is being exhibited by the Committee of Fifty appointed to arrange for the closing Republican demonstration of the campaign on Monday next, and every indication points to the largest and most imposing display ever witnessed in Western Pennsylvania. The several marching clubs are constantly drilling for the occasion, while citizens not belonging to clubs, and above all the loyal ladies of Allegheny county are taking the most active interest in the preparations.

THE LOYAL LADIES.

The following communication was received by John W. Riddell, Esq., Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, yesterday:

PITTSBURGH, October 31, 1876.
John. W. Riddell, Esq., Chairman on Arrangements:

SIR: You are respectfully notified that six thousand bouquets will be sent to your headquarters on Friday or Saturday next to be used on decorating the lamps of the Hayes and Wheeler Marching Clubs of the two cities, taking part in the demonstration on Monday next, the said decorations being furnished by a number of loyal ladies of this city.

J. R. & A. MURDOCH, Florists.

Whereupon General Pearson issued the following order:

REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS,
PITTSBURGH. November 1, 1876.
To Division Commanders:

GENTLEMEN—The patriotic ladies of this city having presented the Committee of Arrangements with six thousand bouquets of evergreens and immortelles for the purpose of decorating the lamps of the Hayes and Wheeler marching clubs of the two cities taking part in the demonstration on Monday next, you are respectfully requested to call or send for your quota on Friday or Saturday next at Military Headquarters, on Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, second floor. Very respectfully,

A. L. PEARSON.

In addition to the above, notice was received from Mr. Frank Ardary that he would turn out the largest wagon ever seen in the streets of Pittsburgh. The wagon alone being forty feet long and capable of holding eighty persons.

Mr. Tom Owens will turn out a splendid delegation in wagons, and Mr. Haney, Jno. Boyd and others are making extensive arrangements. The parade promises to be one of the largest ever seen in this State.

THE IRON MANUFACTURERS IN COUNCIL.

A large and earnest meeting of the iron manufacturers was held last evening at the rooms of the Committee of Arrangements, Sixth Division N. G. P. Headquarters. There were present the following gentlemen: Mr. Woods, of Reese, Graff & Woods; Mr. John I. Williams, of Graff, Bennet & Co., Milvale Iron Works; Mr. McDonald, of Phillips, Nimick & Co., of Sligo Iron Works; W. T. Dalzell & Co., Vesuvius Iron Works, Sharpsburg; Major W. J. Moorhead, of Moorhead & Co., Soho Iron Works; J. H. Lindsay, of Lindsay & McCutcheon, Star Iron Works; James K. Verner, of Pittsburgh Forge and Iron Company; W. J. Lewis, of Lewis, Oliver & Phillips, Monongahela Iron Works; D. B. Oliver, of Lewis, Oliver & Phillips, Allegheny Iron Works; Max. Moorhead of Soho Iron Works, of Moorhead & Co.; George Chalfant, of Spang, Chalfant & Co.; Frank Jones, of Jones & Laughlin, American Iron Works; Park Painter, of J. Painter & Sons, Pittsburgh Iron Works; Henry Oliver.

William Woods, Esq., was called to the chair.

Mr. D. B. Oliver, of Lewis, Oliver & Phillips, moved that it is the sense of this meeting that the iron mills should suspend operations on Monday, November 6, in order to take part in the Republican demonstration on that day.

This motion was adopted unanimously.

Resolved, That the Chairman of this committee be requested to call a meeting of the steel manufacturers for to-morrow (Thursday) evening, at 7:30, at Republican Headquarters to unite with us in this demonstration.

THE BOYS IN BLUE TO THE FRONT.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of crippled soldiers of the late war was held last evening at Republican headquarters, for the purpose of making arrangements to turn out in a body in the grand Hayes and Wheeler demonstration on next Monday.

Gen. James S. Negley was called to the chair, and Maj. J. F. Denniston was elected Secretary.

The Chairman read the following resolution which had been passed by the Republican Committee of Arrangements:

Resolved, That all maimed soldiers who are unable to march be invited to participate in the parade on Monday. For all such who shall signify their acceptance of this invitation and leave their names at the Military Headquarters, corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street (second floor) will be provided with carriages by the Republican Executive Committee. All such soldiers will report or leave their names with General James S. Negley, not later than Saturday afternoon.

On motion an invitation was extended to all soldiers of the late war to turn out with this body, wearing any portion of the old uniform and corps and division badges, so far as practicable.

On motion, the invitation extended by General Negley, to occupy the right of the second division, was accepted.

On motion Adjutant S. A. Will was unanimously elected Marshal of the body, with authority to appoint aids and color guard.

The meeting then adjourned to reassemble Saturday evening, the 4th inst., at Republican headquarters.

It will be seen that a cordial invitation is extended to all old soldiers to participate, and it is to be hoped that all will make it suit to be at the meeting on Saturday evening, without further notice.

SECOND DIVISION.

Gen. James S. Negley has issued the following instructions:

Headquarters Second Division.

The gentlemen who have hitherto received invitations to join my staff are requested to assist me on Monday.

Those who served in the army will, if convenient, wear their old uniforms. All others will wear a blue sash, red rosette, black felt hat, white feather and white gloves.

Report on Monday at half-past nine o'clock, at the corner of Liberty and Water streets.

JAMES S. NEGLEY,
Marshal Second Division.

THE ROUTE.

A communication signed by some eight hundred citizens of the upper wards asking a change of route was received by Col. H. B. Hays yesterday. Col. Hays having no control over the matter, returned the following communication:

HEADQUARTERS
REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE,
PITTSBURGH, November 1, 1876.

Messrs. S. A. Phillips, Hon. W. C. McCarthy, Major W. W. Powers, Wm. Moore, Walter Kirkpatrick and others:

GENTLEMEN—Your communication of the 31st inst., was received by me to-day. Inasmuch as the route of precession for the Hayes and Wheeler display on Monday next was fixed by a committee from the marching clubs, and is final, I have no control at all over the matter, and it is impossible for me to make any changes. It would afford me pleasure to gratify the people of the localities spoken of in your communication, but, inasmuch as the matter is entirely out of my control, I am constrained to respectfully decline to assume a power I do not possess.

Very respectfully, &c.,
H. B. HAYS,
Chief Marshal.

WELSH CITIZENS CLUB.

It is earnestly requested that all Welsh citizens of Allegheny county organize clubs for the purpose of participating in the Grand demonstration in favor of the Republican ticket, Monday next, November 6, 1876.

It has been suggested that Welsh companies at Soho, South Side, Fifteenth ward and Woods Run act as recruiting companies, and that on the day of parade the citizens' clubs will form in the rear of thier own recruiting clubs.

It is earnestly requested that each delegation will send two representatives to a meeting to be held at the office of T. W. Davis, 85 Fourth avenue, Friday evening, at seven o'clock, where all arrangements for the procession will be perfected.

T. W. DAVIS.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Local Political Notes—Meetings in and About the Cities.

HON. CARL SCHURZ will deliver an address in German this evening at City Hall. He will arrive in the city at 8 A. M., and will stop at the Monongahela House, where he will receive those of his friends who desire to call on him. The meeting will be organized at 7 o'clock sharp, in order to enable Mr. Schurz to deliver his address before the departure of the 8:30 train for St. Louis. At the conclusion of the German address Hon. Lorenza Danford, of Ohio, and Hon. Edward McPherson will address the meeting.

THE Sharpsburg Hayes and Wheeler Club had a meeting Tuesday night, Capt. James G. Saint presiding, when they decided to have a grand mass meeting on Saturday night next. The occasion promises to be a very interesting one, all the marching clubs of adjacent places being expected to participate. A committee of three was appointed to wait on the Republican citizens and request them to illuminate their residences and places of business upon that night. Some action was also taken towards participation in the daylight demonstration in Pittsburgh on Monday next. After some further routine business an adjournment was had.

THE Republicans of Shousetown had a grand blow-out last evening. A Hayes and Wheeler pole was erected, and speeches were delivered by Major Harper and Col. Haymaker. The marching clubs from Sewickley, Sheffield, Clinton and Moon township were in attendance.

THE Republican voters of the East End will meet to organize a citizen's club, uniformed in dark suits, high silk hats, white vests and white gloves, at the Twentieth Ward Headquarters, Penn avenue, Friday evening next, to participate in the closing parade of the campaign on Monday next.

THE First and Second ward Hayes and Wheeler clubs will meet on Thursday, November 2d, at 7 P. M., to go to Mt. Washington.

THE Veteran Club, of Allegheny city, will meet at the Young Men's Republican headquarters this evening.

THE Third ward Marching Club will also participate in the procession on Mt Washington to-morrow evening.

ROUSING RALLY AT NATRONA.

NATRONA, October 31, 1876.

A rousing Republican meeting was held at this place this evening. Hon. Thomas Howard made a stirring speech, which was listened to with marked attention by the large assemblage. We also had a fine torchlight procession, the Hayes and Wheeler marching club of Tarentum participating. The meeting was presided over by W. A. Nesbit, with several Vice Presidents. At the close of Mr. Howard's address the meeting adjourned with three cheers for Hayes, Wheeler and Bayne.

P. S. C. HOUGH,
Secretary.

CITIZEN'S CLUB OF LAWRENCEVILLE.

Captain W. F. Aull has inaugurated a movement in the East End to organize a Republican citizen's club, composed entirely of voters to participate in the daylight procession on Monday next, uniformed in dark suit, white vest, high silk hat and white gloves. A meeting has been called for that purpose to be held at the Twentieth ward Republican headquarters Pennsylvania avenue, on Friday evening, November 3, at seven o'clock P. M. Turn out Republicans and help to make the closing parade a creditable one.

SEVENTH WARD, ALLEGHENY.

There was a large Republican mass meeting last night at No. 186 East street, Seventh ward, Allegheny. The assemblage was called to order by Major A. J. Pentecost, who announced the following list of officers, and they were elected by acclamation:

President—John Lawrence.

Vice Presidents—J. W. Witherspoon, R. Henderson, Christ. Heckel, Chas. Koener, G. W. Williams, Andrew Mertz, William Rommel, Jacob Babst, Jos. Harrison, Jos. Stand, Jr., George Evans, Sr., George Beilstein, Jacob Myers, John Eyster, Robert Frazier, Joseph Devlin, Fred. Lorenz, Sr., Robert Porter.

Secretaries—C. F. Maratta, Henry Herman, Gust Panner, Augustus Tate, Jacob Kurtz.

The meeting was addressed first by Col. T. M. Bayne, who was enthusiastically cheered when he appeared on the stand. He was followed by J. C. Martin, Esq., and General Wm. Blakely. All of the speakers were well received, evoking the heartiest applause.

WHAT A DEMOCRAT SAYS OF HAYES.

On Tuesday evening a rabid Democrat from Columbus, Ohio, was in the city, the guest of a gentleman of the East End. This gentleman is a Tildenite, and is going to vote for Sammy because he was born and raised a Democrat, and must vote with his party, no matter who is nominated. But he is frank enough to say that he knows Gov. Hayes personally, and that he is a man of unimpeachable integrity, and just the man for President. He would like to vote for him, but cannot under the circumstances. He wants to see him elected, however, and predicts that Ohio will give him fifteen to twenty thousand majority next Tuesday.—Telegraph.

Jacobus.

The following verses, by Rev. Alexander Clark, of the Methodist Recorder, are appended to an editorial in his paper of this week:

'Twas only the pulses stilled,
  As he lay in his coffin-bed;
'Twas only the mortal chilled,
  And only the dust is dead.

'Twas only a glad surprise,
  Not a dread of the dark to him,
To enter God's Paradise
  With angel and seraphim.

Jacobus is living now,
  For the eternal life was his;
Now glory illumes his brow,
  And he lives where Jesus is.

He lives, and he speaks, the same,
  Unseen though his form or face,
While millions revere the name
  Of him who has helped his race.

Court Brevities.

A PRELIMINARY injunction was issued by Judge White on the petition of Jas. P. White against the borough of McKeesport and Gordon & Townson, contractors, to restrain them from entering upon the property of complainant, through which the extension of Fifth street is laid out.

A MOTION for a new trial was made and reasons filed in the case of the U. S. vs. the owners of the steamer "Jack Gumbert," charged with carrying straw on the boat contrary to regulations, tried in the U. S. District Court last week. The counsel for defendants hold that the Court had no jurisdiction; that the offense charged was not indictable; that the regulation alleged to have been violated was not proven to have been adopted or approved, and that said regulation was not violated.

CASTLE SHANNON RAILROAD.

Another Meeting of Citizens.

There was another large meeting of the citizens along the line of the Castle Shannon narrow gauge railroad, from Castle Shannon to Washington, held at King's school house, near Library, on Monday evening last. 'Squire Handel was called to the chair, and a number of prominent farmers were chosen Vice Presidents. Mr. Thos. M. Walker acted as Secretary.

The meeting was addressed by the Chairman, Messrs. A. C. and D. M. Hays, Rev. Mr. Moffitt, I. D. King, A. McMurray and Jos. H. Phillips. The attendance was large, and on the subject of connecting the fertile country lying between Castle Shannon and Washington by rail with the Pittsburgh market the expression of the citizens was very enthusiastic. Quite a number of subscriptions were added to the stock list, and the feeling was marked and apparent that the road must be built. The projectors of the enterprise report that they are meeting with success along the whole line, in the matter of procuring subscriptions, and there is now no doubt that by the end of next summer Pittsburgh and Washington will be connected by a narrow gauge railroad. By this road, and over the Baltimore and Ohio, from Washington, our business may look forward to an early competition route westward for their freights.

A Safe Guaranty.

The stockholders of the Real Estate Savings Bank manifest no anxiety to get rid of their stock in this institution, which is accounted for by the fact that prudent, economic and judicious management has accumulated a contingent fund of ninety thousand dollars, which is a sufficient guaranty that the future interests of stockholders will be well guarded and well cared for. The trustees are men of shrewd business and financial qualifications. Interest is allowed at six per cent., payable in May and November, which if not drawn will compound. The charter of the bank restricts the investment of deposits to first liens on real estate within the Commonwealth, or in United States and Pennsylvania State bonds.

BREVITIES.

····The Allegheny Street Committee will meet this evening.

····The Hope Fire Company, Allegheny, will move into its new quarters to-day.

····The East End suffered most from the depredations of the jubilant juveniles.

····There were 213 arrests in Allegheny last month and 219 cases disposed of. The receipts amounted to $354.

····The Liberty street improvement, from Liberty avenue to Thirty-fourth street, has been completed.

····The reign of the train-agent is almost over, the emergency which called them into existence having almost passed away.

····The revival so successfully conducted by Mrs. Van Cott in the Butler street M. E. Church closes on Sunday night next.

····Complaints about coal thieves are beginning to come in. A great many poor people think it no harm to steal coal or provisions.

····The hearing of Sailor Burke was again postponed yesterday, Mr. Hunter not being able to be out. The 11th inst. is the day fixed.

····The alarm of fire from box 43 yesterday forenoon, was caused by a chimney fire on a house at the corner of Clark and Elm streets.

····The Veteran Club of Allegheny will meet in the rooms of the Young Men's Republican Club this evening. A strong turn-out is expected.

····Wm. Flinn, it is stated authoritatively, will not be a candidate for the office of City Treasurer, and declines to permit the use of his name in that connection.

····The Health Committee of Allegheny met last evening, Mr. McGuire in the chair, and approved bills to the amount of $877.42. Considerable objection was made to some of the bills.

····The sixth anniversary of the Young Women's Boarding House, located at 33 Anderson street, Allegheny, takes place this evening. Supper will be served from six to nine o'clock.

····The Allegheny Police Committee met last evening, Mr. Heagy presiding, and approved the monthly pay roll, amounting to $3,939.58. Chairman Heagy again declined to sign the pay-roll containing Chief Ross' name.

····The Ninth ward Sons of William, Prince of Orange, L. O. L. No. 45 will give their Fourth Grand Orange Regalia Ball, at Lafayette Hall, on Friday evening, November 3d, with music by the Empire Quadrille Band.

····Smythe's two last and grandest excursions come off on the evening of the 7th inst., and on the morning of the 8th. Telegraphic reports of the election will be received at Altoona, Huntingdon, Harrisburg and Lancaster, and distributed in the trains.

····Duquesne Way has been put in first class condition, the approach to Union Bridge having been graded and paved under the supervision of Street Commissioner Hunter. The Bridge Company bore the expense of putting the approach in such good shape.

····The Pennsylvania Transportation Company and the Seaboard Pipe Line have not been able to settle upon a policy. The committee having the matter in charge have not been able to make a report yet. In the meantime the certificate holders are growing more and more anxious.

····The following is the statement of the Collectors of Internal Revenue in the office of Thomas W. Davis, Collector of this district, for the month of October: Distilled spirits, $33,031.46; tobacco snuff and cigars, $30,117.65; fermented liquors, $6,894.21; compromise case, $55.00. Total, $70,098.32.

····A lady, who had five times entered an Ohio street, Allegheny, dentist's office to have a tooth pulled, and each time backed out, succeeded on Saturday in having the operation performed by taking with her a bottle of wine, which she drank until she was "O'er all the ills of life victorious." No anaesthetics for her.

····At the next meeting of Councils the Board of Health will again ask for a further appropriation or the passage of a resolution authorizing the Controller to certify warrants on whatever appropriations are unexhausted at the end of the year. If Councils again refuse, the operations of the Board will be suspended until next February.

····Three brothers—Charley, Sherman, and Harry Ingham—met with a serious mishap yesterday on the Brighton road, Eleventh ward, Allegheny. The horse which they were driving became fractious, and backed the wagon over a steep bank, scratching the boys considerably. This is not the first accident for that spot. The road is in a bad fix there.

····At yesterday's meeting of the Humane Society, nine cases of cruelty to animals were reported—two aggravated cases in which suits were brought, and four cases of cruelty to children. A concert will be given at an early day for the benefit of the Society, by the Allegheny Quartette Club. The Society needs money badly, and the people should contribute liberally.

····Hallow E'en passed off rather quietly, there not being much stir in the city after the juveniles had been put to bed. Quite a number of signs were changed from where they were wont to be to where they were not wanted. The rural districts were the scene of more harmless mischief than the city. The only thing the old folks could say was that "boys will be boys." They knew how it was themselves.

····A systematic method of stealing iron from the rolling mills on the South Side has been carried on for some time. The Mayor's police yesterday discovered the mode and caught three of the operators named Julius Stoker, Sol. Stoker and Dan. Wheeler. Their way was to loaf around the mills and when unobserved pick up pieces of iron and throw them over the cinder bank into the edge of the river. Then just before daylight in the morning they would go with skiffs and convey away their plunder to sell to junk dealers. They were caught yesterday stealing from Porter, Dilworth & Co.'s mill. They will have a hearing before the Mayor to-day.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Edward McPherson spoke in Washington, Pa., Tuesday evening.

Mr. J. J. O'Leary, who has for a long time been agent of the Allegheny Valley Railway at East Brady, has been ordered to Emlenton. Just before starting for his new field of labor on Tuesday evening, he was serenaded by a brass band, and presented with a handsome gold watch and chain by the merchants of the place.

Mrs. Anna Randall Diehl, the instructress in elocution, who is this week in New Castle before the Lawrence County Teachers' Institute, certainly takes the lead in personal allusions, having used the words "I" and "myself" only ninety-one times in the short length of time of twenty-five minutes. Should not our leaders in educational matters be more guarded and set a more excellent example before an association of common teachers? Truly would they be hissed from the building if they should use their own name half that number of times in a day at their schools.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

JAMES KAIN was committed to jail yesterday to await a hearing on a charge of aggravated assault and battery, preferred before 'Squire McKenna, on oath of Hugh Murphy.

INFORMATION was made before Alderman Kreuter yesterday, by Thomas Flaherty, against Michael Burke, charging him with aggravated assault and battery, alleging that the accused struck him on the head with a shovel. The accused was arrested and held to bail for his appearance at Court.

More Excitement in Indiana.

It was supposed by nearly everybody that after the Gubernatorial election in Indiana things would be quiet, at least for a while; but there is now greater agitation than ever in that October State, but on a different subject—that subject being the Grand Drawing of the "Kentucky Cash Distributing Company," which takes place at Frankfort, Kentucky, November 30th. Everybody wants a ticket and a chance at the magnificent prizes, and the rush and excitement exceeds any thing that has ever occurred in that State. Whole tickets $12; halves, $6; quarters, $3. Ex-Gov. Thomas P. Porter, General Manager. G. W. Barrow & Co., 710 Broadway, New York, are Gen'l Eastern Agents. Tickets for sale by James Stanford, P. O Box 383, Pittsburgh.

EQUINE SPORT.

Two Excellent Races at Friendship Park, Yesterday, and one not Completed.

Yesterday was a delightful day for the races that were advertised to come off at Friendship Park. The track was in splendid condition, barring a modicum of dust, the sun shone bright and warm, but not too hot, and in every way it was a day to draw a crowd. The attendance, therefore, as may be inferred, was very good, much better than on any previous day this year.

In the first race for a purse of $500 it was advertised that Slowgo, Silversides, Lew Scott and Lady H. would start. It turned out that Silversides and Lew Scott had not reached the city. An attempt was then made to get up a race between Lady H., Lucy and Slowgo, but the owner of the latter horse objected to trotting him against Lucy, who is a pacer, and withdrew him. After some parleying a match was made between Lady H. and Lucy, and a start made. The first heat Lady H. won in 2:32. She trotted magnificently, and had she not broken two or three times, it is believed she could easily have made it in 25 or 26. She did well throughout the race, and regained the favor she lost when she acted so badly in the free-for-all on the last day of the Fall meeting. She was somewhat out of training and couldn't maintain the gait she took in the first heat, so that Lucy won the next three heats in 2:32¼, 2:35 and 2:37. Lucy also did some remarkable speeding, and it was a matter of surprise that Lady H. kept to her work so well in contending against her.

The advertised entries for the second race were Belle Boyd, Igo, Stranger and Bob, all well known in this neighborhood. But here again was a hitch, as none of the four but Bob started. The race was made up, however, by bringing in Frank Shaw, Blonde and Tom Thumb. Bob did not maintain his reputation, as Blonde took the two first heats in 2:49 and 2:46, and Frank Shaw the other two in 2:42 and 2:43. The race was not completed, owing to the darkness, but will be concluded this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

But the most exciting sport of the day was an improvised match between Roan Dan and Bay Jack, the former trotting and the latter pacing. The race was two best out of three and Roan Dan won in two straight heats in 2:49 and 2:47½. Both heats were exceedingly close, in the first one the horses coming under the wire together nose and nose, but the heat was awarded to Dan on account of Bay Jack running a short distance down the home stretch. The second heat Dan won by not more than a head, they being so close that many expected the judges to decide it a dead heat.

As the unfinished race between Blonde and Frank Shaw must be completed this afternoon, another good race will in all probability be made up to finish the day. It is expected that next week Silversides and Lew Scott will be here, and will go with Lady H and Slowgo.

DEMOCRATIC BIG GUNS.

Addresses at the Old City Hall by Hon. George W. Julian and Hon. Jere. S. Black.

The largest meeting that the Democrats have held during this campaign was that at Old City Hall last evening, where addresses were made by George W. Julian, of Indiana, and Jeremy S. Black. While the largest meeting of the Democracy, there were not more than half so many persons present as were there the nights that Ingersoll and Blaine spoke. On each of those nights the immense hall was jammed full in every portion, and hundreds were unable to gain admittance and left after reaching the doors. The hall last night would have accommodated one-half as many again as were there. The crowd, too, was very restless, and kept moving about and talking so that it was impossible to hear the speakers ten feet from the platform. The address of Mr. Julian was moderate in tone, while that of Judge Black was so deeply logical that before he got through most of those who had come out of curiosity left the hall. Mr. Black is a good speaker, but not one to interest a mixed crowd.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

There was a very fair audience at the Opera House last night, larger than either Monday or Tuesday evenings. "Brass" was presented and will be the attraction throughout the week. Friday evening Mr. Rowe takes a benefit and Saturday evening will be "peoples night." Next week the inimitable Sothern will hold the boards at the Opera House.

Library Hall.

"Henry VIII" was presented at Library Hall last evening, with Miss Dargon in the role of Queen Catharine, in which she has no superior. The audience was in point of numbers an improvement on Monday and Tuesday evenings, but it was too meagre for so meritorious an actress as Miss Dargon. She is supported by a good company, but Mr. Taylor, a clever actor in most every role he undertakes, is not at home when he is cast as "Cardinal Woolsey." This evening "Deborah" will be presented, with Miss Dargon in the title role.
